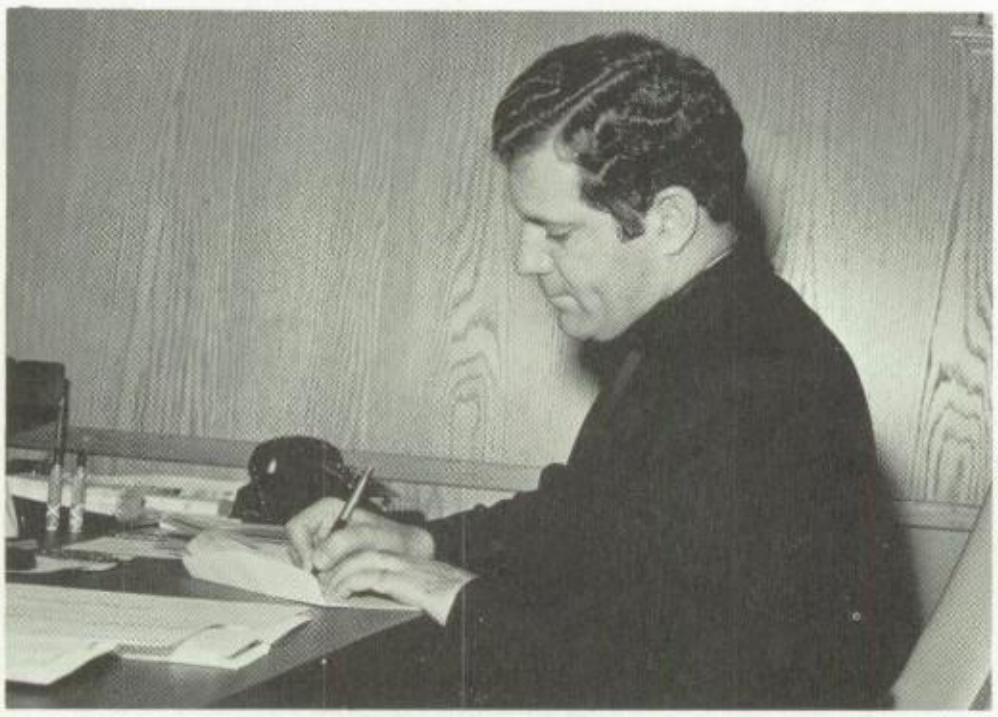
Administration



FATHER EDWARD TARSI
Principal

The administration of Saint Joseph High School has been an essential factor in the successful operation of our school. The administration played an integral part in the everyday life of the students by helping them to solve many of their problems. No matter what the difficulty which brought a student into the office, it was capably handled by these dedicated people. St. Joe is indeed fortunate to have had the services of Father Tarsi, Mrs. Smiley and Mrs. Saway throughout the years.

If we work upon marble, it will perish; if on brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal minds, and imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of our fellow-men, we engrave on those tablets something that will brighten to all eternity.

Daniel Webster

The faculty at Saint Joseph's this year has successfully tackled this challenge set forth by Daniel Webster during the 1969-70 school year. We the students are grateful for their unselfish guidance and the deep interest they have shown in our development.

Seniors

It is often from endings that beginnings take their initiation. From their beginning the Seniors of '70 provided a leadership traditionally held by a senior class, and from their ending as Seniors they approached upon a wider and hopefully, more fulfilling life. The achievements of the Seniors of '70 have been many. They began a Student Activities Fund which provides monetary assistance for various school groups and their graduation was no less sorrowful than joyous, no less a beginning than a climax in their lives.

The Junior Class of '70 displayed a year of typical high spirit as they sponsored sock-hops and sticker parties which provided the finances for that finale of the Junior year - the Junior-Senior Prom. This was also the year for their proud exhibition of class rings and the induction of members into the National Honor Society. Like every Junior year, this was filled with memories - some to be long remembered, others best forgotten.

Sophomores

The Sophomore Class took its place among the achievers this past year. Some of its members were numbered in Mu Alpha Theta. Others were recognized as associate members in the National Honor Society. But the majority of the class seemed content to be recognized as the class which had the most time to spend at their lockers and in the hall.

Freshmen

A lively addition came to St. Joseph this year via 88 happy-go-lucky students, eager to begin their four years of hard study and good times. In spite of forgotten books, papers hanging out of their stuffed lockers, and looks of starvation in the lunch line, they managed to come up laughing. And that's what made them FRESHMEN.

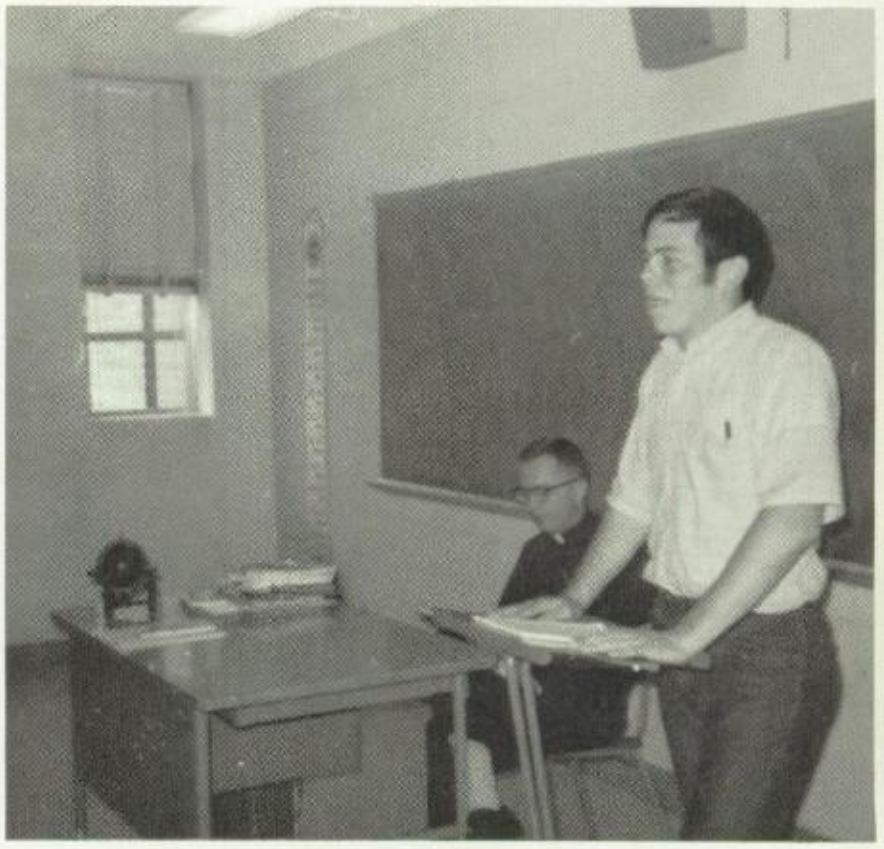
Classes

Languages

Miss Weber, French has really meant a lot to me!



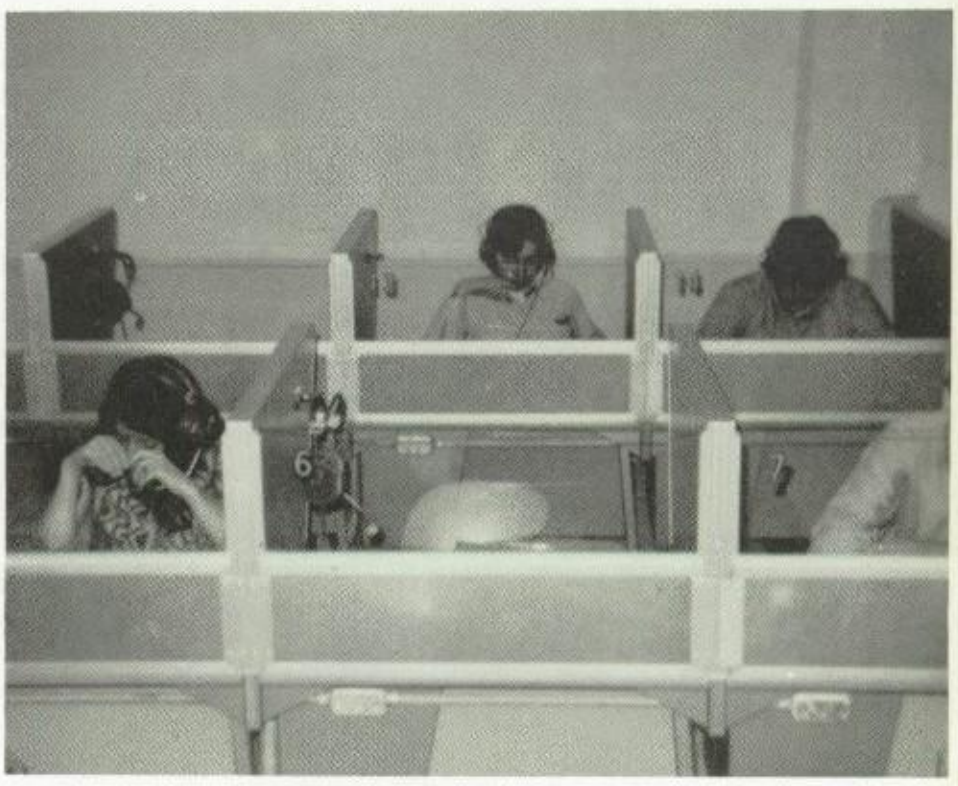
Porto, portare, portavi and portatus.

The foreign language department at St. Joe offered two languages: French and Latin.

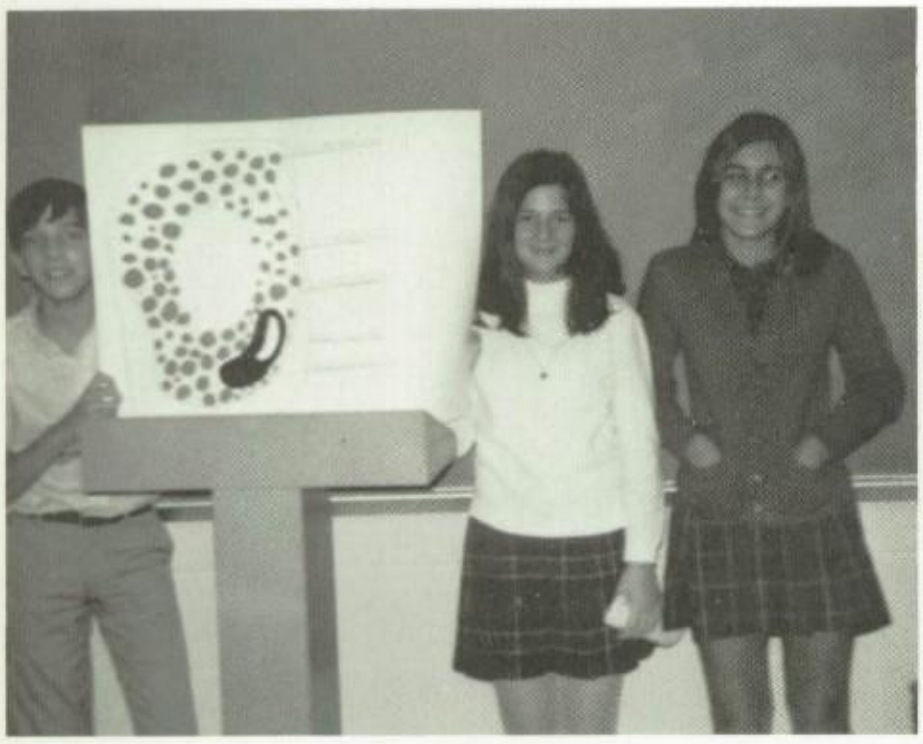
French I and II provided an introduction to that popular language. For those who chose to pursue and perfect the language, Dr. Jones instructed the advanced French students in their third and fourth years.

Fr. Brock, who shouldered the responsibility of teaching all four years of Latin, never ceased to argue that Latin is not a dead language. He was largely responsible for the excellent showing made by his students at the JCL state convention at Clinton.

Liz is amused by the Roman Emperor.



Students put their oral French to use in the lab.

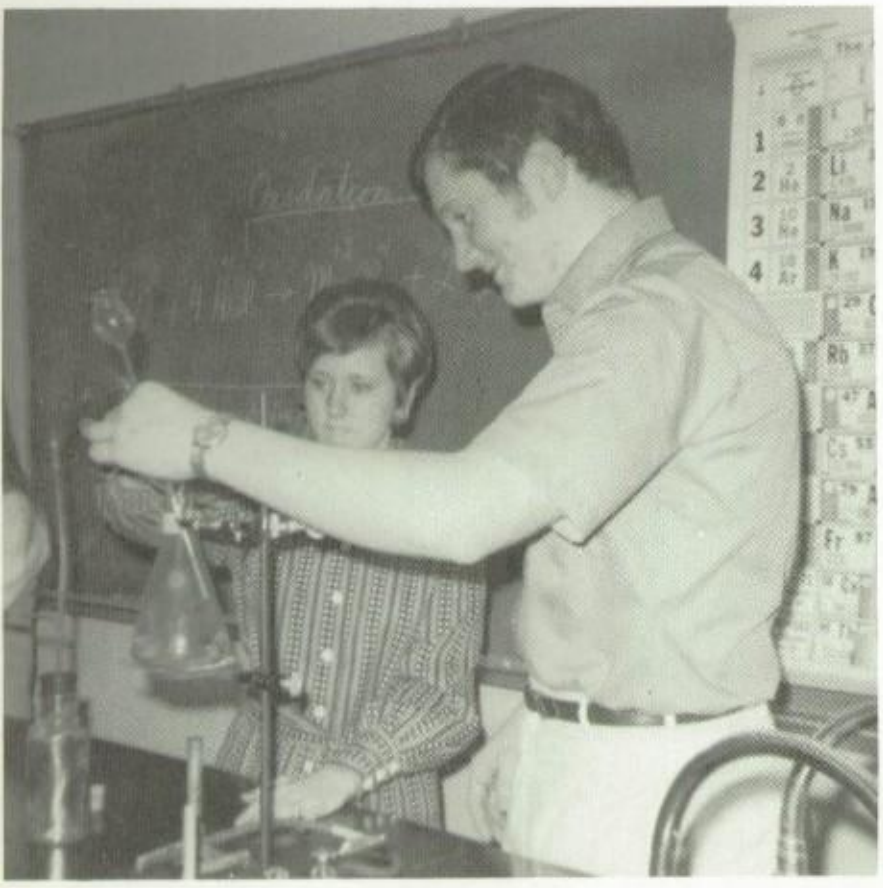


Robert, Debbie, and Cecilia point out to the class the parts of the cell.

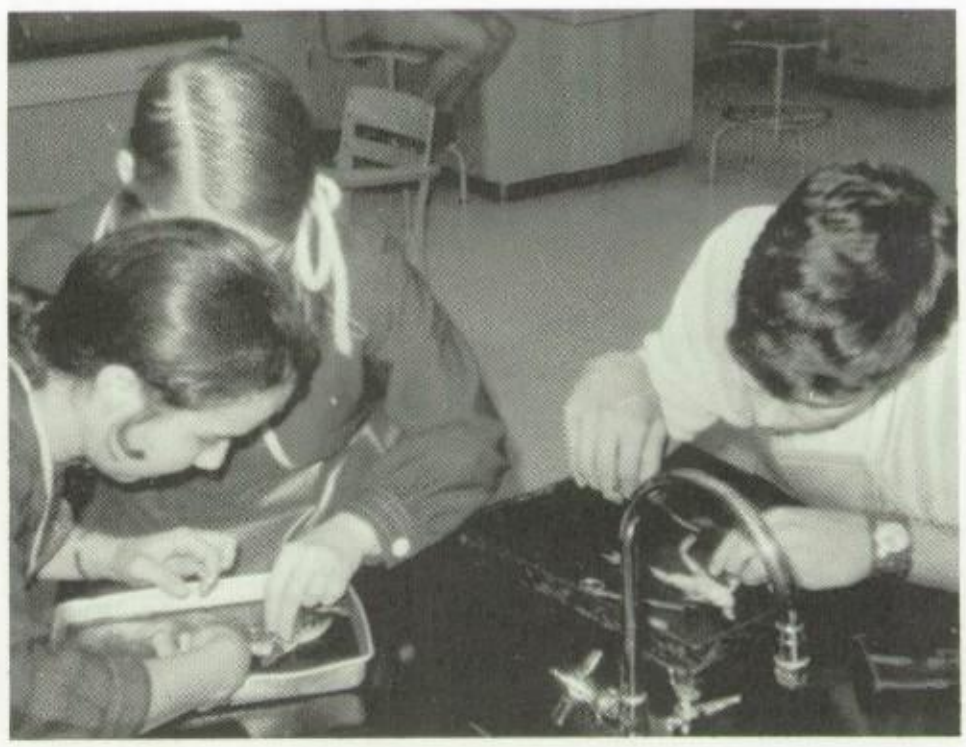
Science

The science courses this year were more exciting and interesting than ever before. With a total of six sciences, students were able to get a real picture of the physical world from cells to molecules.

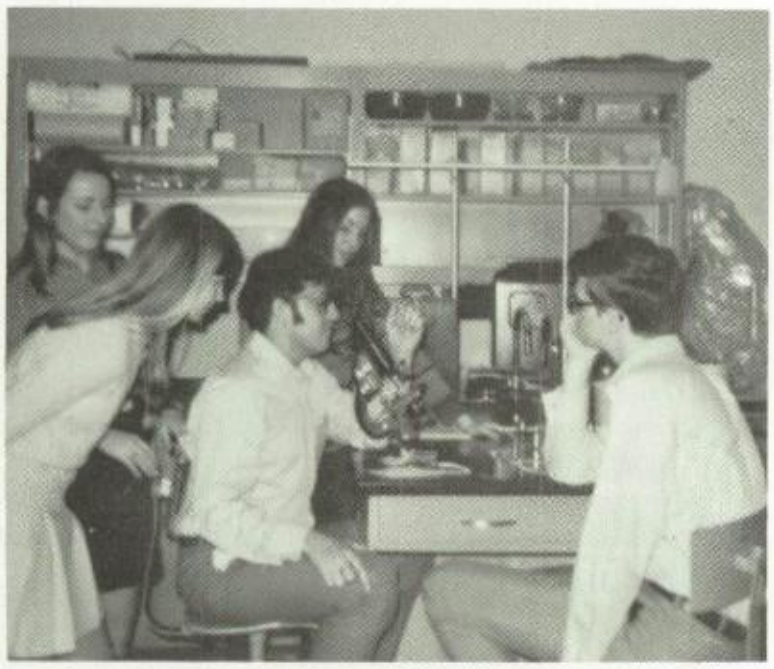
General biology, general science, and modern physical science offered a study of anatomy, botany, chemistry, embryology, genetics, geology, and zoology; while, chemistry, physics, and advanced biology developed such topics as atoms, organic and inorganic chemistry, and the mechanical advantages of simple and complex machines.



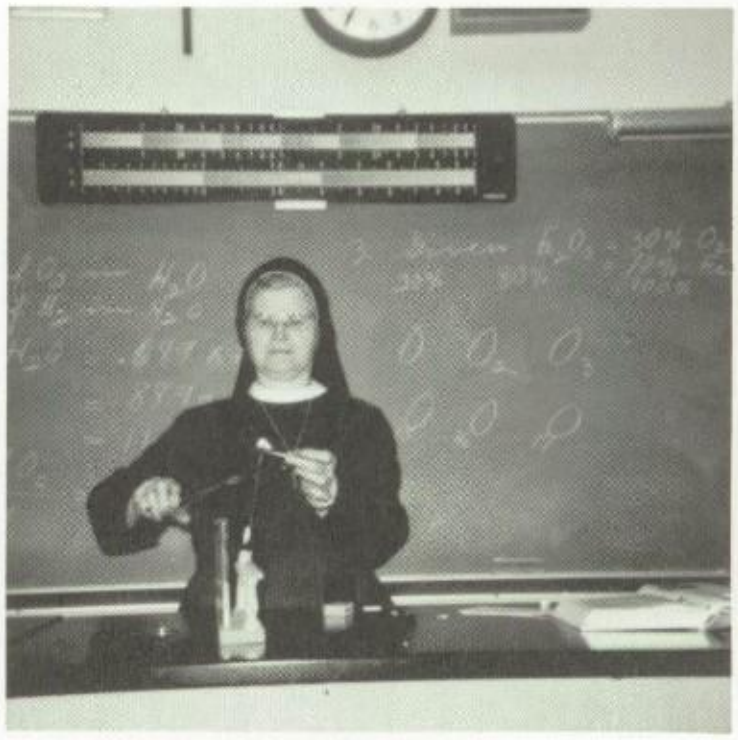
I knew we shouldn't have put that sulfuric acid in there!



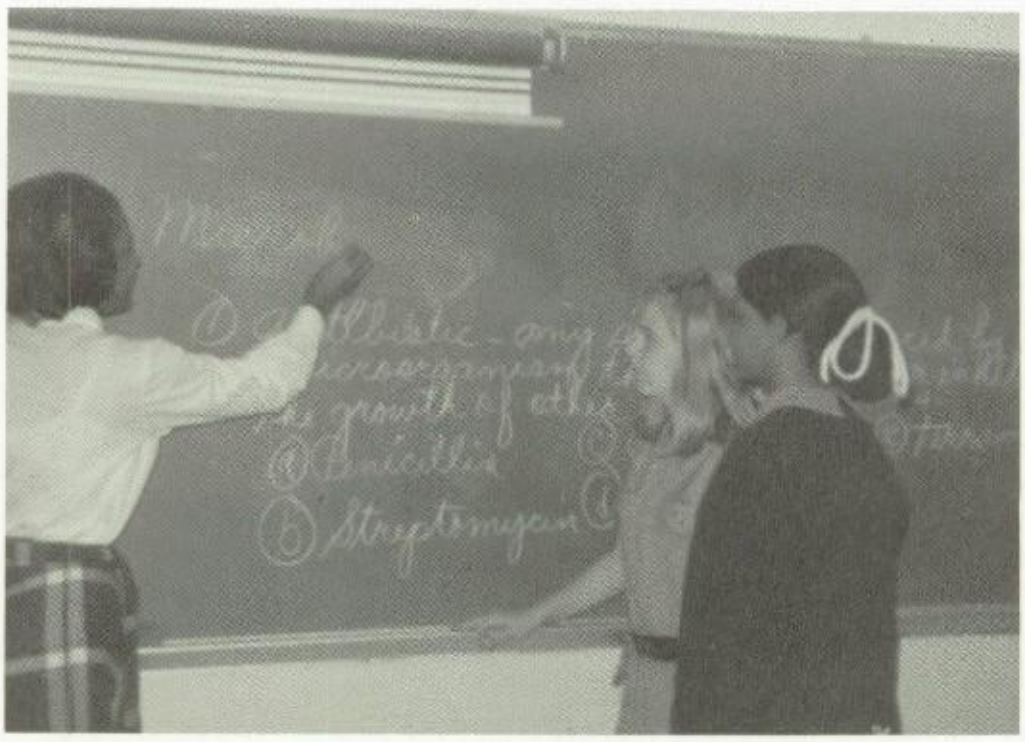
Advanced biology students learn about frogs, inside and out.



Mr. Awad takes a closer look at a stained bacteria slide.

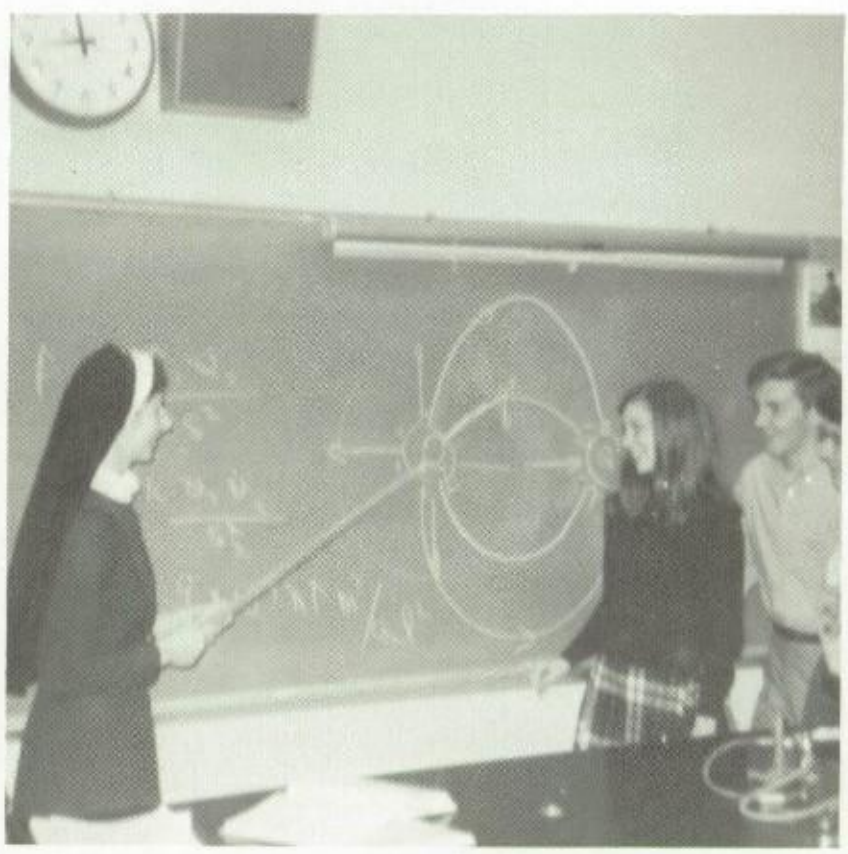


Sister Anacleta performs an experiment for chemistry class.



A class on microbiology helps students learn more about their world.

Biology students learn the tedious skills of disection.



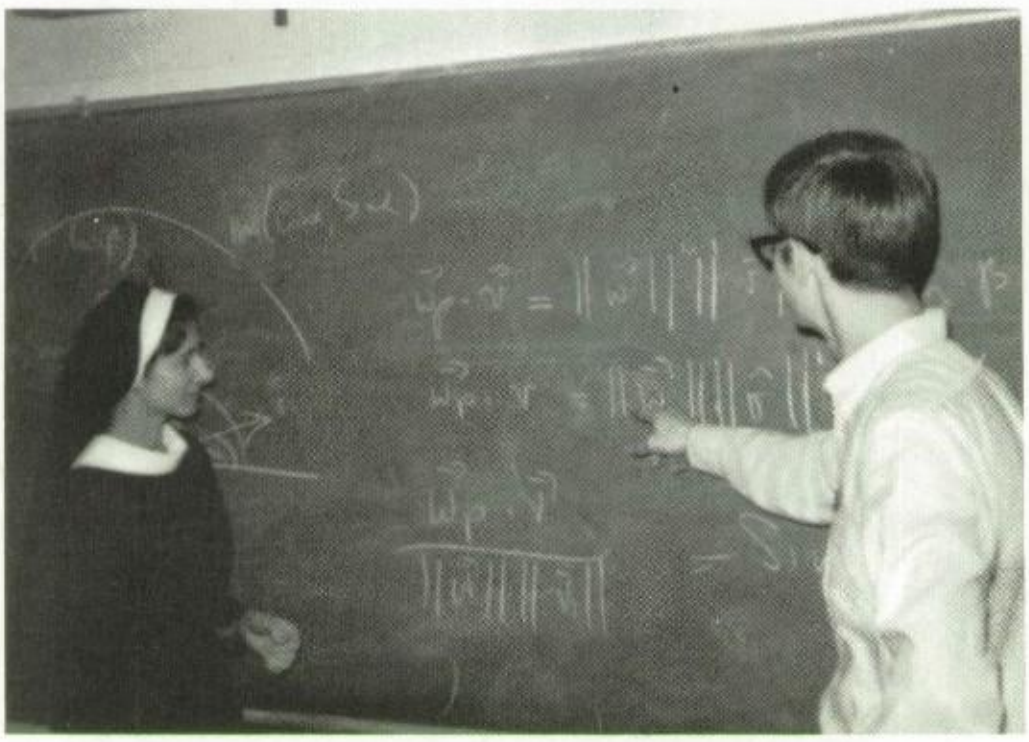
Sister Sean Marie joins the science department this year as the physics teacher.

Mathematics

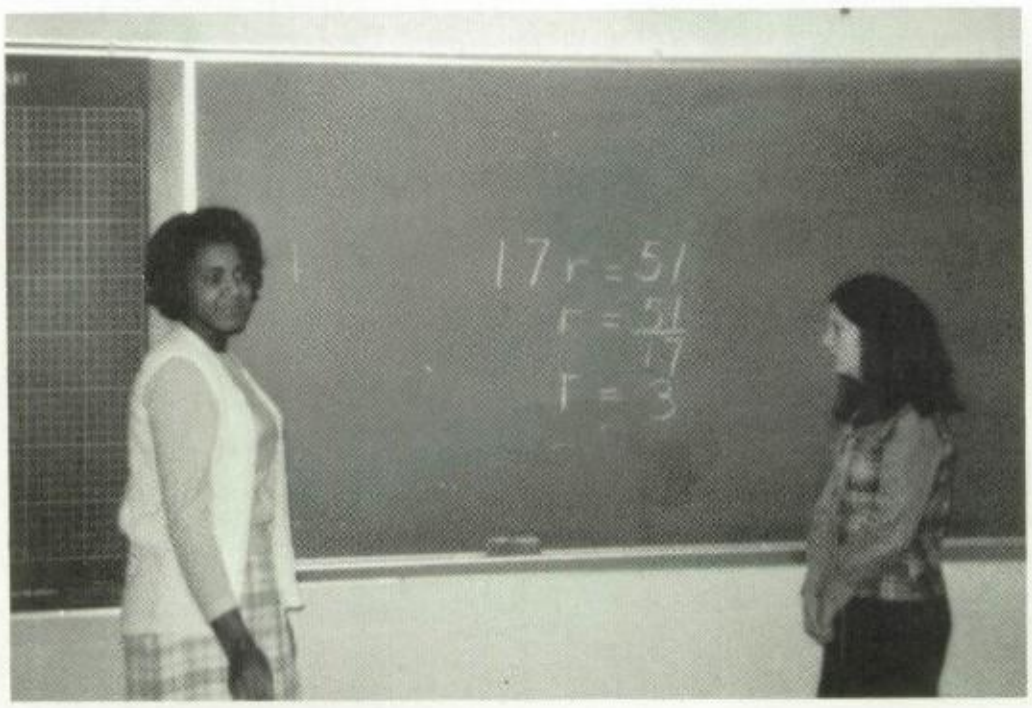
Mathematics, one of the strongest departments at Saint Joe, was staffed this year by three capable instructors. Students were intrigued by the challenging equations, indirect proofs, and polar graphs placed before them. Sister Sean Marie, Mrs. Smith, and Coach Raphael made old things seem new, and, in doing so, lured more students into believing that math really is fun!

Offering a wide variety of subjects ranging from Fundamental Math I to Advanced Math, students were able to choose which course appealed to them the most. Usually referred to as a hard subject, our math teachers made it so interesting that it seemed less difficult.

Coach Raphael helps another struggling freshman in Algebra I.



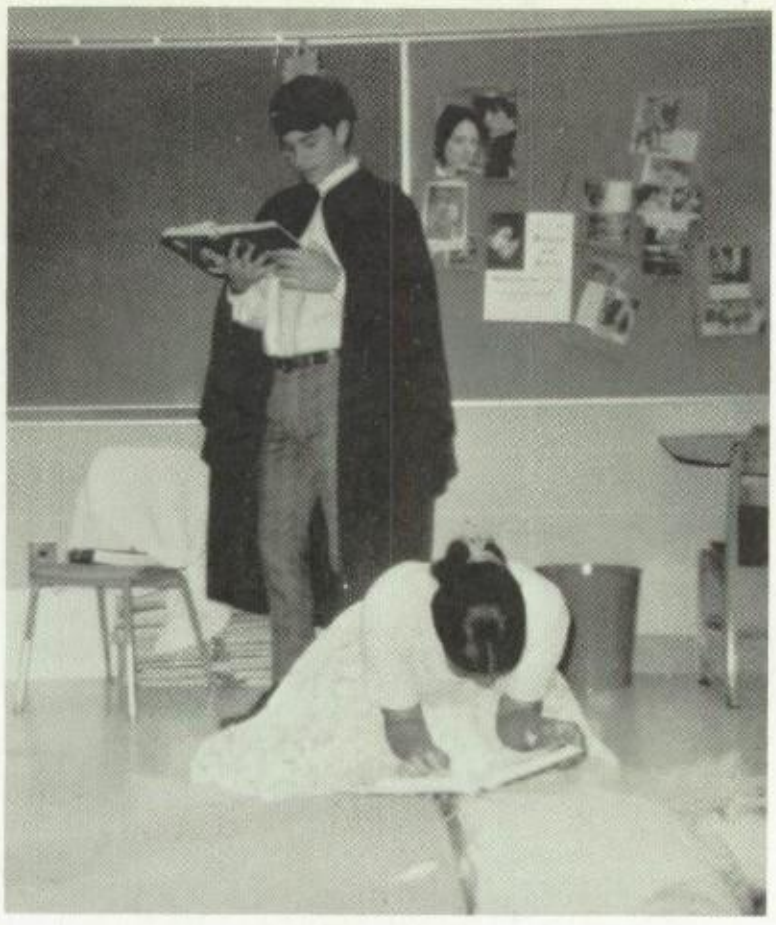
Jim Flood points out to Sister Sean Marie that Advanced Math IS harder than it seems.



Mrs. Smith solves an equation as Debbie Zuccaro looks on.

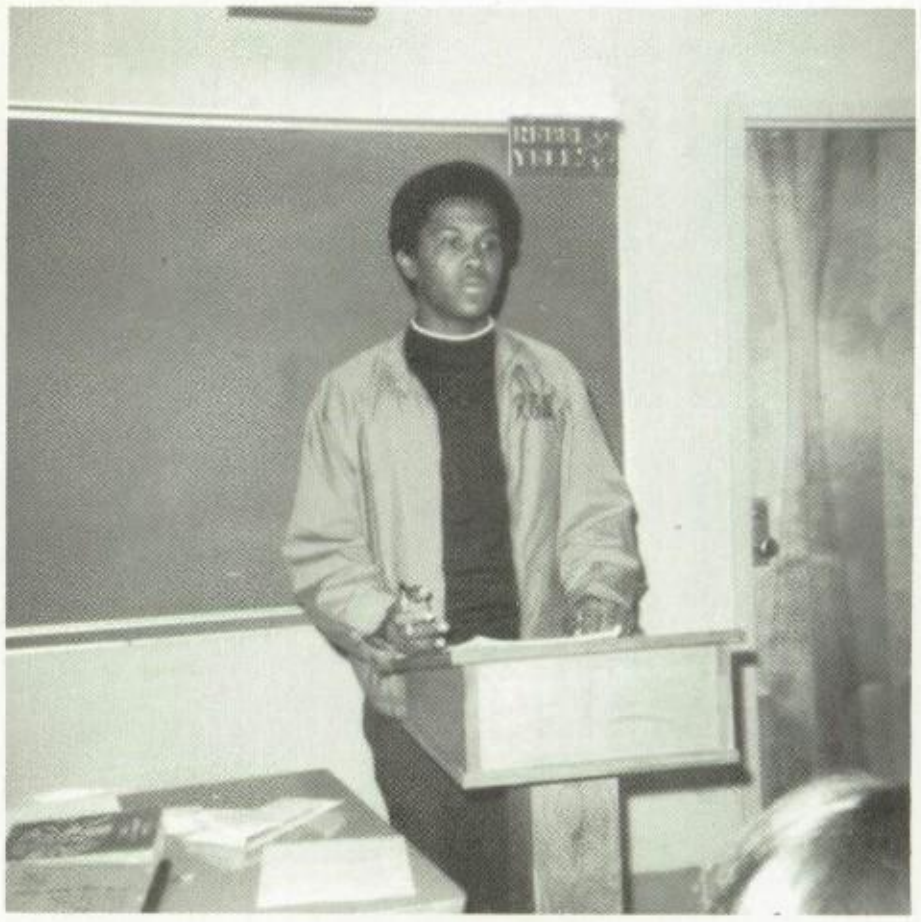
English

Probably the most broadening of classes offered at St. Joseph's was English. Through study of classics the students acquired a deeper understanding of and a greater appreciation for literature. Through a study of grammar the students were better able to express their ideas and established a proficiency in their native language which is the mark of any educated man.

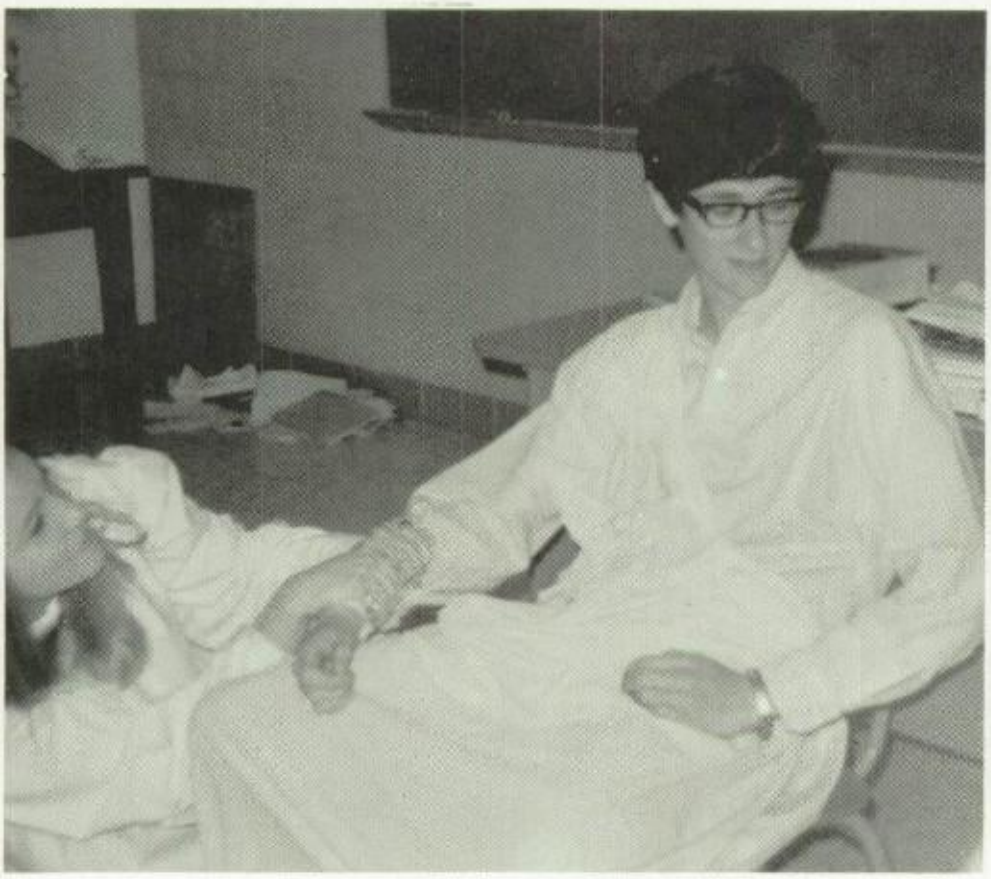


In a scene from Romeo and Juliet freshmen develop acting skills.

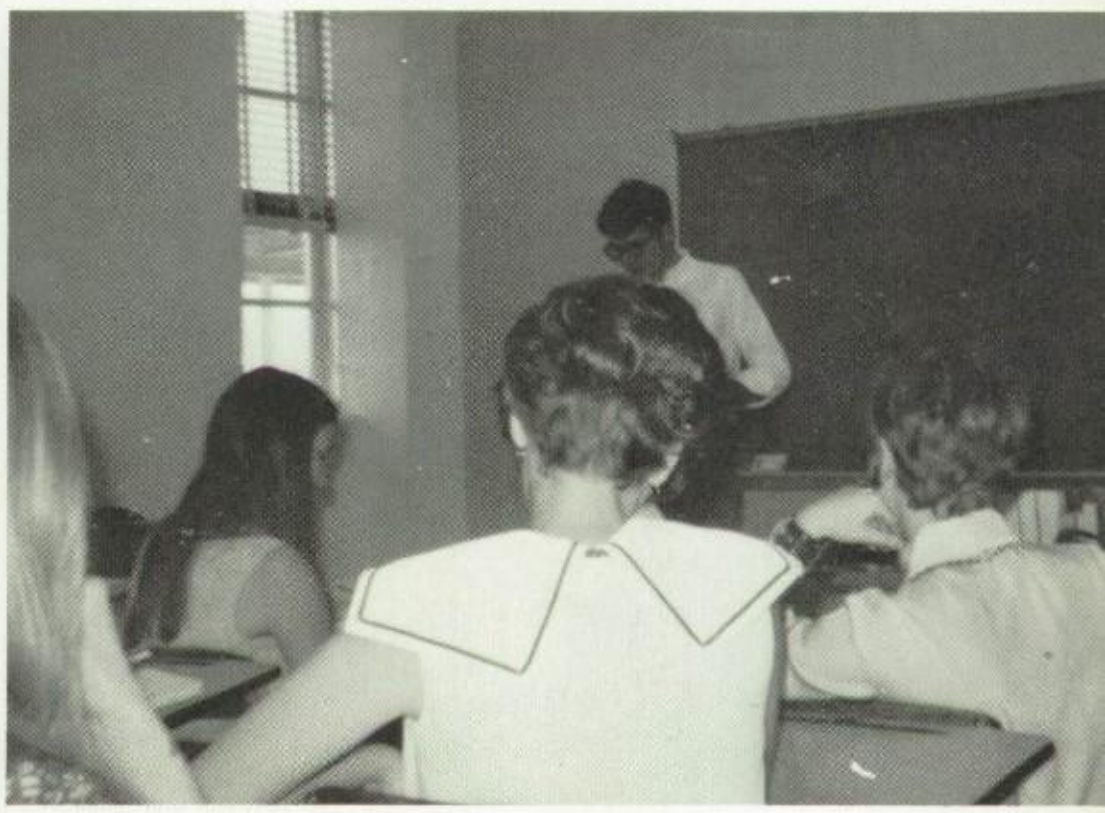
"Order in the courtroom. Here is the judge." Carl Jones in Twelve Angry Men.



A student of junior English, Raphael Brown practices persuasive speaking.



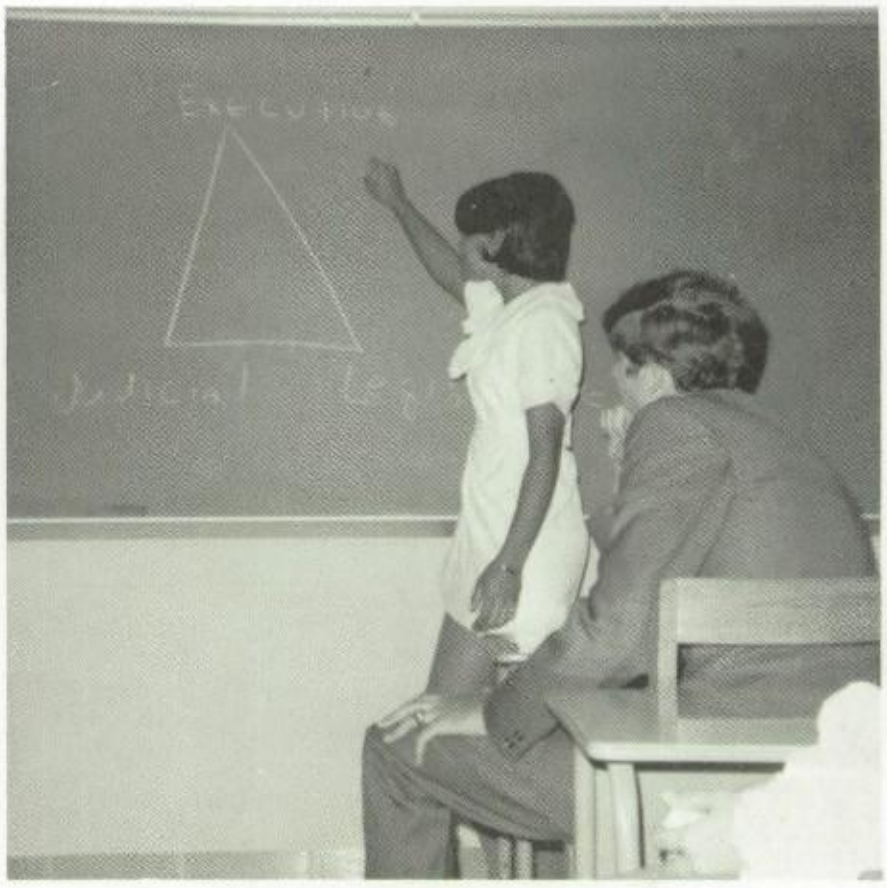
Brutus and Portia (Jack Mallette and Bridget Coughlin) relax in the garden of Julius Caesar.



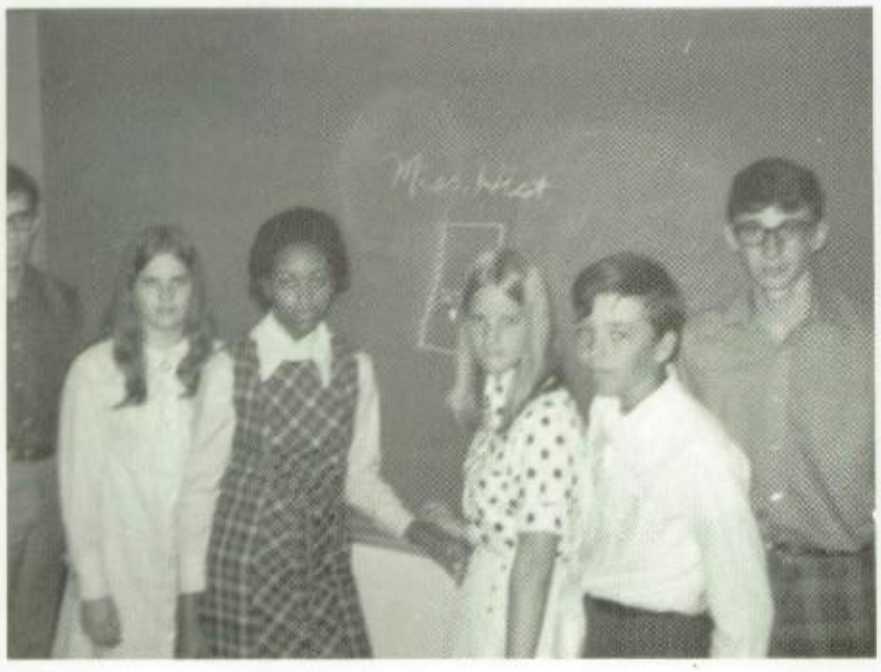
Oral reports seem to play an important role in senior English as shown by Johnny McAndrew.

Social Studies

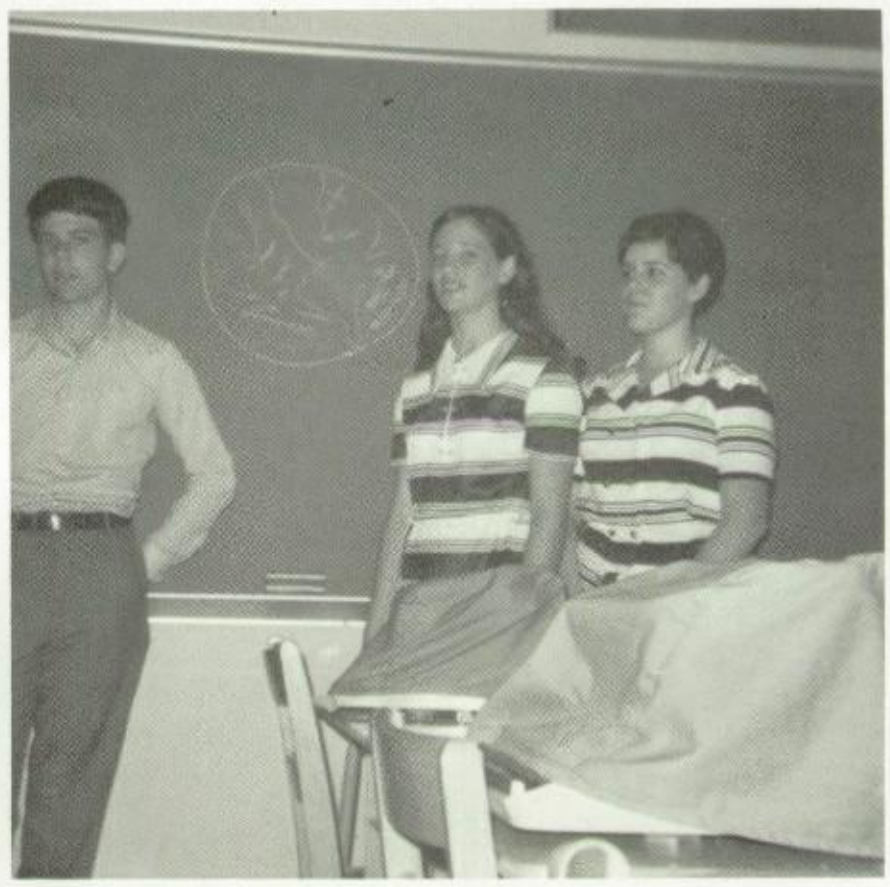
The Social Studies Department, headed by Coach Roy, worked diligently to give the students a better appreciation of the world in which we live and to instill in us a true pride in our American heritage. The study of communism made us all realize that America is truly the land of the free and the home of the brave. Under Coach Roy, Mrs. Bassett, and Mrs. Maxwell, our study of past history and current events has helped us to understand better the problems facing our leaders today and to be less critical of those who must make difficult decisions affecting the entire nation.



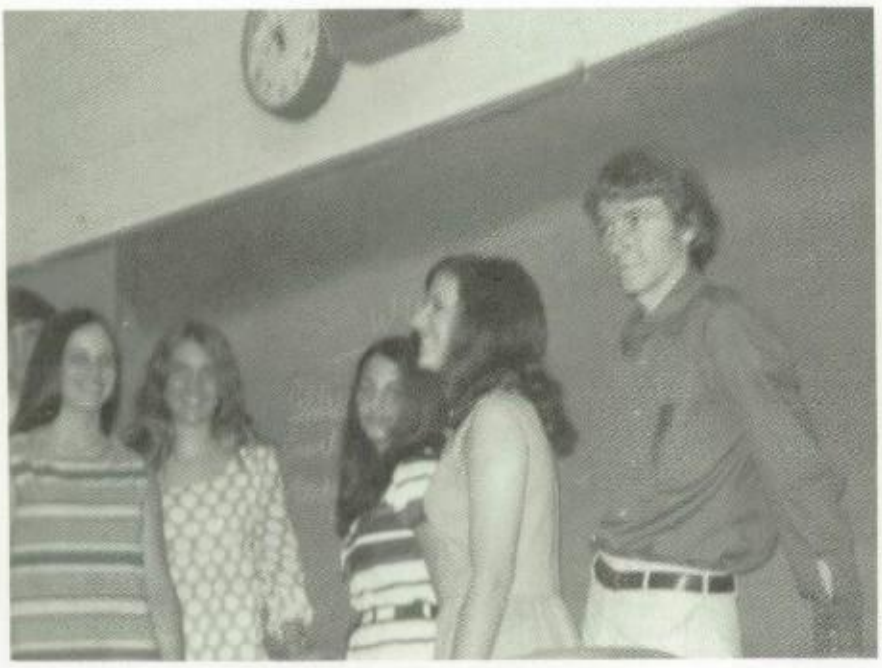
Marion illustrates the three branches of our government as Joe looks on.



Bernard, Mary, Sandra, Sarah, Danny, and Jim seem sad the study of Miss. history is over.



Roy, Cathy, and Margaret take a tour of the world in their study of global history.



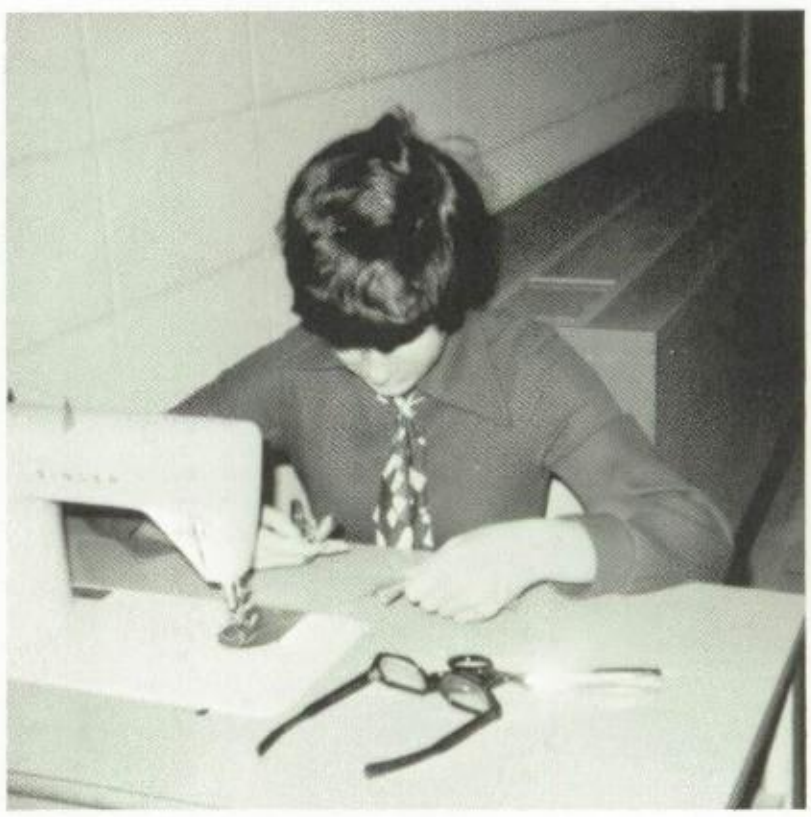
Coach Roy's students are happy they remember the events leading up to World War II.

Home Economics

With the expert assistance of Mrs. Norma King, the girls in home economics developed varied and useful skills. Interspersed with days of cooking and sewing, the girls also made their own purses. At prom time, the juniors turned the home ec room into a greenhouse and made flowers for decorating the hall.

Pat Bagley and Lynn Harkins paper the home ec room.

Denise and Sarah hard at work?



Maybe you should put your glasses on!

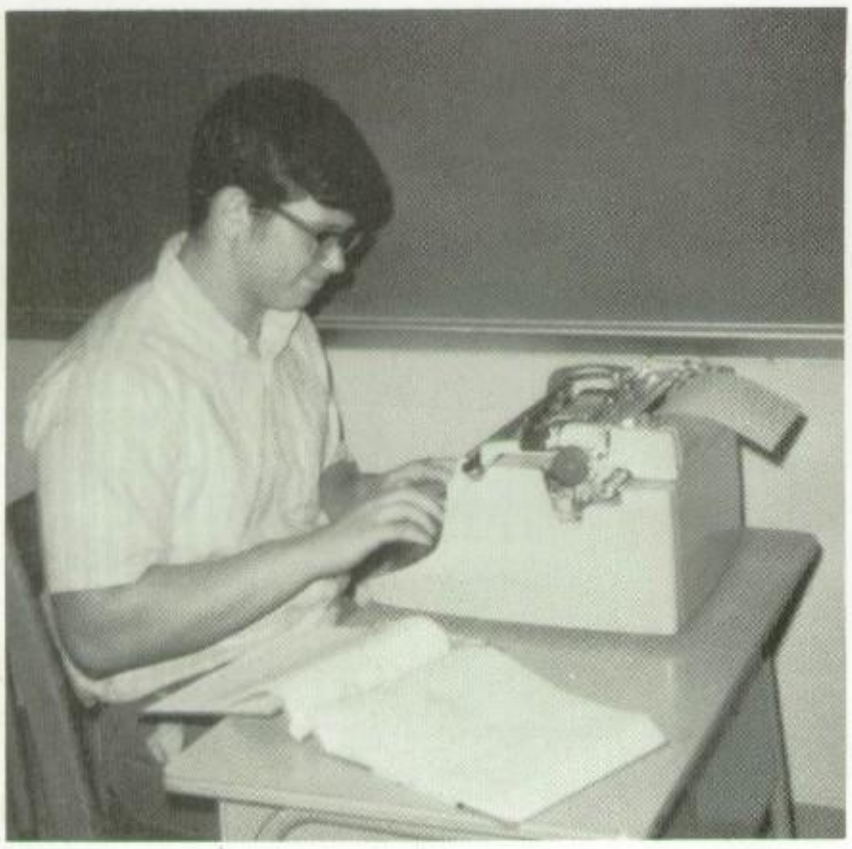
Marian and Jackie practice skills learned during sewing sessions.

Where are you, Romeo?

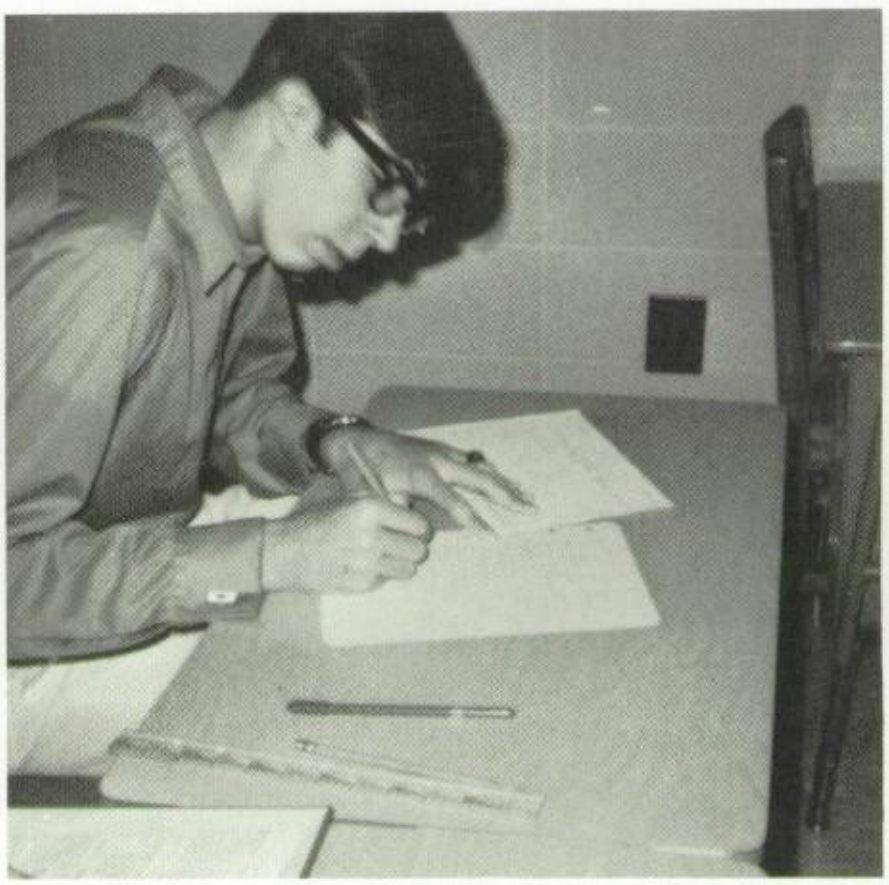
St. Joseph's Business Department, under the direction of Sister Mary Clarissa, was very well organized this past year. Young men and women, wishing to become clerical workers, secretaries, or accountants, had a variety of subjects from which to choose including bookkeeping, typing, shorthand, and office practice.

The business students had the opportunity to see demonstrated a computer and the latest bookkeeping machines and calculators. Term papers, practice sets, filing procedures - all of these helped to prepare the students for their future work.

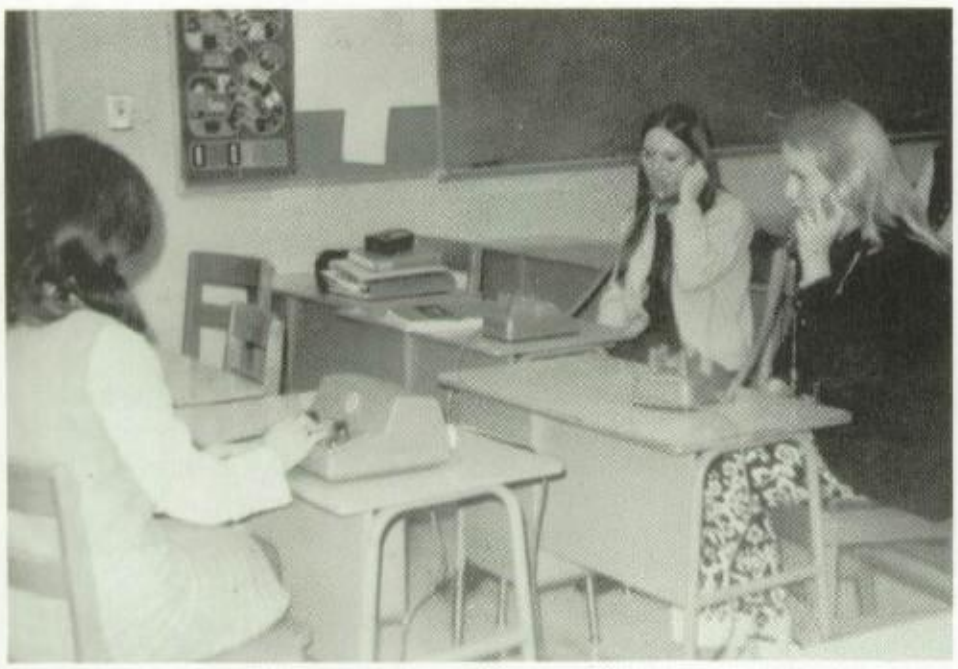
Judy, Jimmie Lynn, and Claudia look on as an FBI agent explains his ID card.



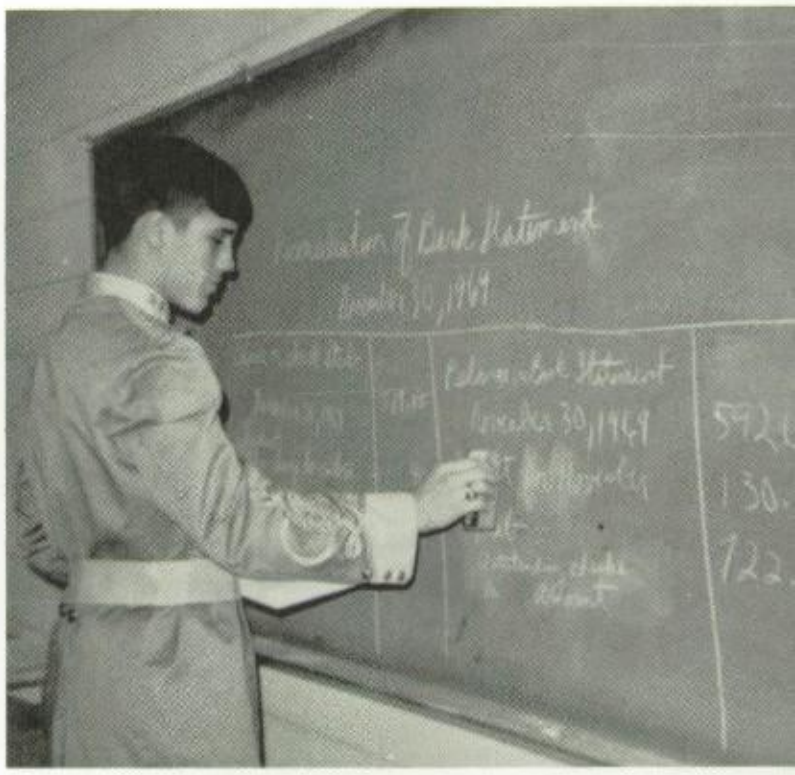
Sure I like to type, don't you?



Are you sure debits are supposed to equal credits?



"I'm sorry, Miss Grant, Sister Clarissa is out of town today."



Sister, I can't get this to balance!

Education

Those eraser crumbs keep getting in my way!

Dear Sir: Your order of May 16 . . .

Punching these keys is worse than punching typewriter keys.

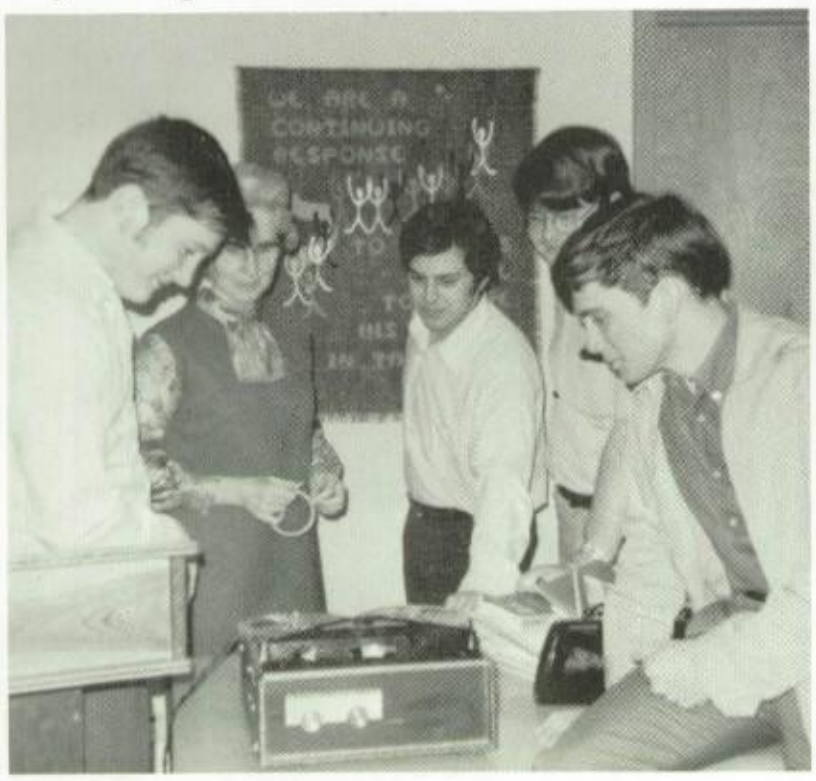
Filing is easy if you know your alphabet.

I say the machine is wrong!

Religion

The students attend Mass as the school year begins.

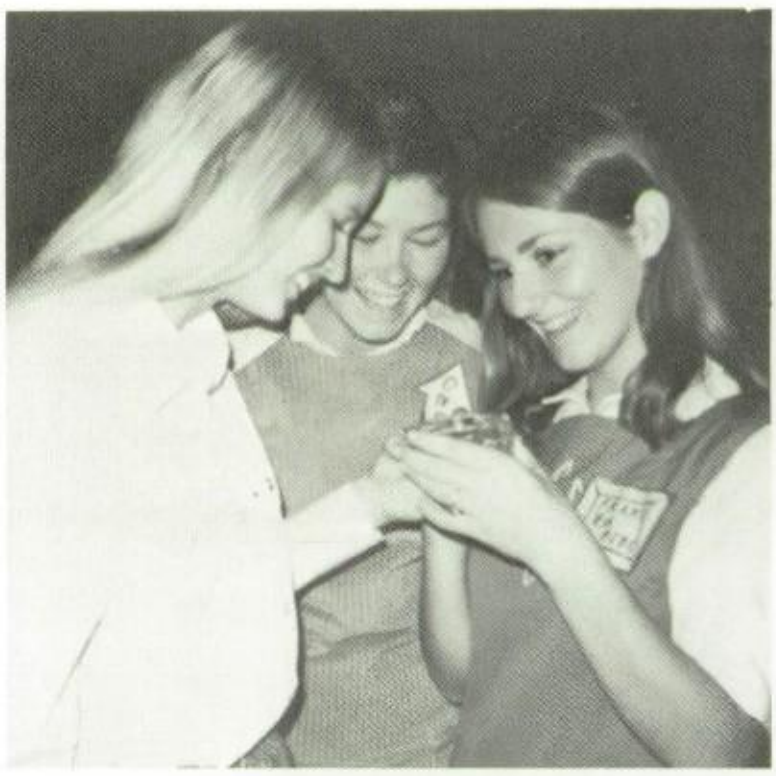
Father Leone and Sister Michelle handled the religion department this year. Alternating between boys' and girls' religion classes, they offered quite a varied and interesting program. The students were acquainted with an experimental marijuana kit during a course on drug abuse; and a Panel of American Women spoke on racial and religious discrimination.



Senior boys listen as Sister Michelle presents a tape on abortion.

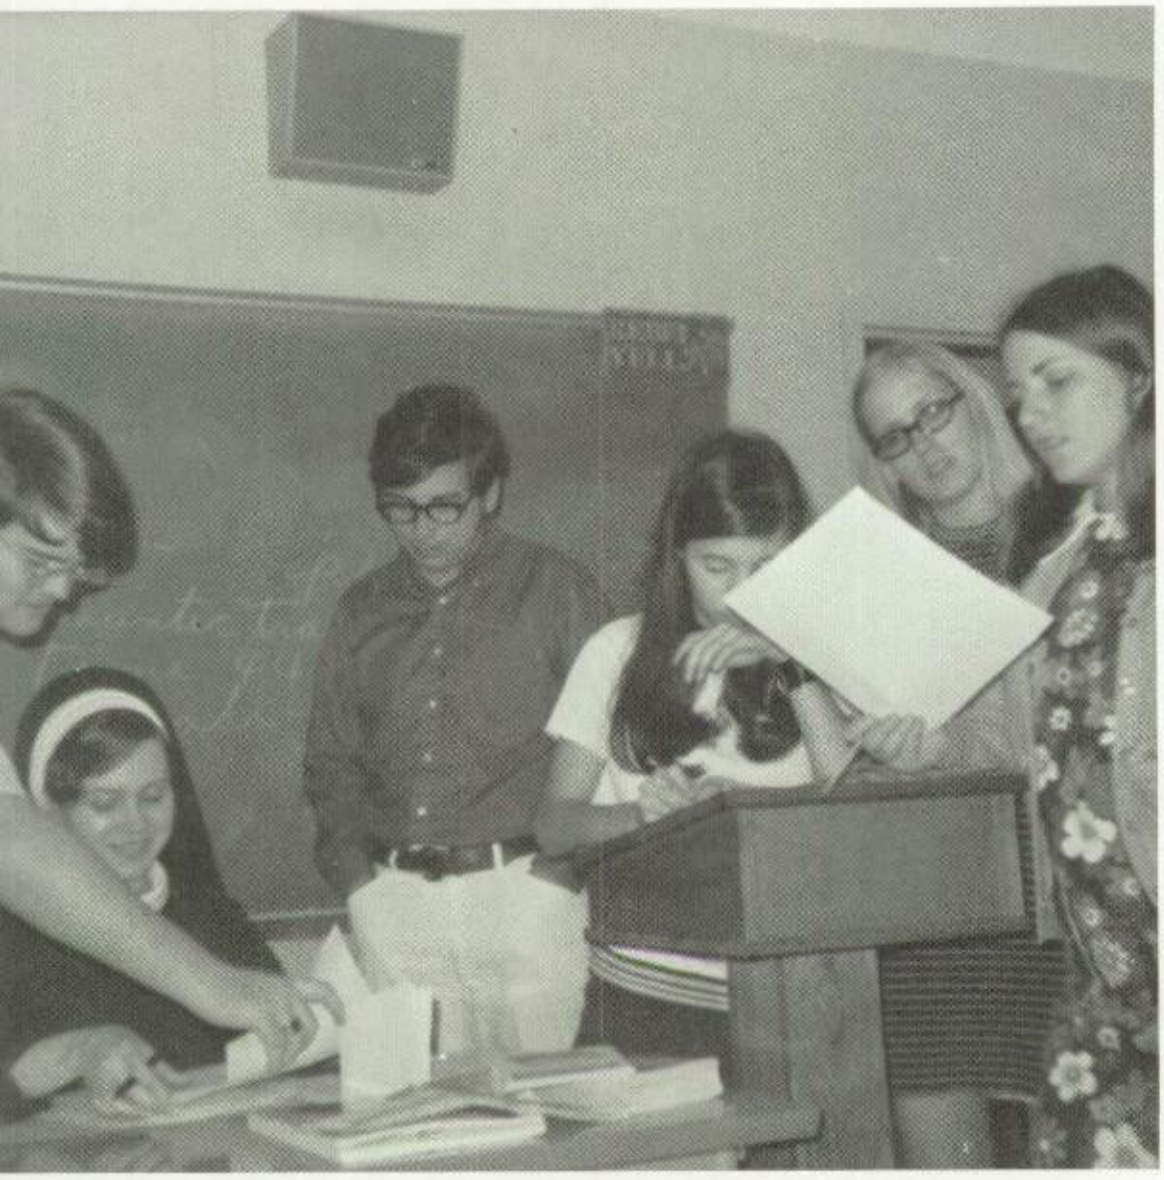
The Panel of American Women discuss prejudice as it exists today.

Damian Morgan receives communion from Father Leone.



So that's marijuana, girls!

Journalism



Rebel Yell editors press to meet a deadline.

Sister, here's an ad for a used journalism teacher.

In preparation for its primary job of publishing the school newspaper, the Rebel Yell, the journalism class spent its every day classes learning the steps in putting a newspaper together.

In this group were some of the most creative, witty, intellectual, fun-loving, and hard working individuals in the student body. The class was a melting pot for these students, and their unique ideas were integrated into a highly successful publication that won two Merit Awards from the Mississippi Scholastic Press Association this year.

Geniuses at work.

Coach Howie at work.

Few gym students escaped the scenery of Northside Drive this year. In addition to exercise, the P. E. classes, supervised by Coach D. M. Howie, consisted of such sports as football, volleyball, basketball, and softball. Several films were shown during the year. A real tension reliever, P. E. encouraged competition beyond scholastic activities. From blood, sweat, and tears, Coach Howie did his best to turn out physically fit students.

A bit of horse play.

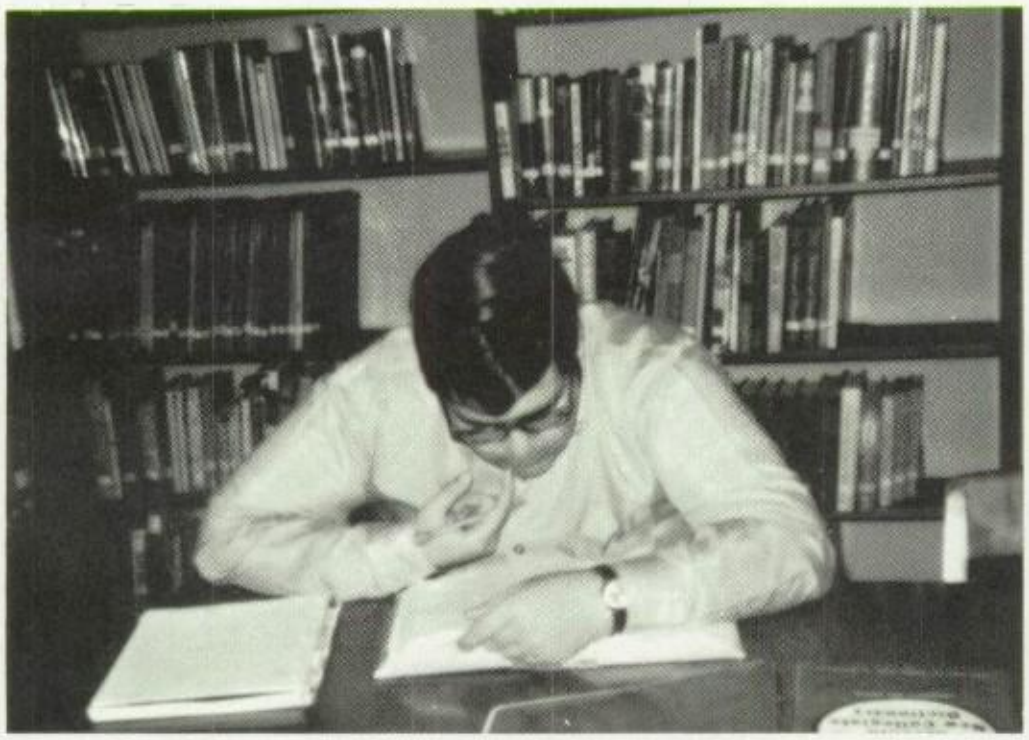
All together now: 1, 2, 3.

Strike three on Sally.

Library

The library may be represented as the backbone of any school - a storehouse of information. Our library fulfilled this purpose under the capable supervision of Sister Mary John and served as a source of reference for both teacher and student alike. An abundant supply of periodicals provided a rich amount of contemporary information and references presented a review of past events. The success of our library is measured not in the wealth of information it contains but in that which it passed on. Frequent use by the students this year of the materials available showed that the St. Joe library was really the center of learning.

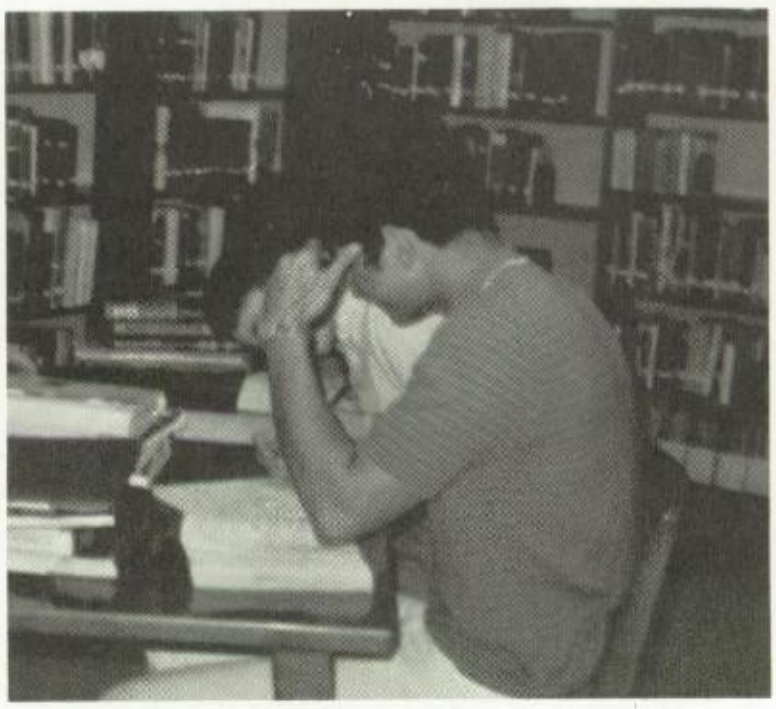
Sister M. John is presented with a 4-volume set of Jefferson Davis biographies donated by the Sons of Confederate Veterans.



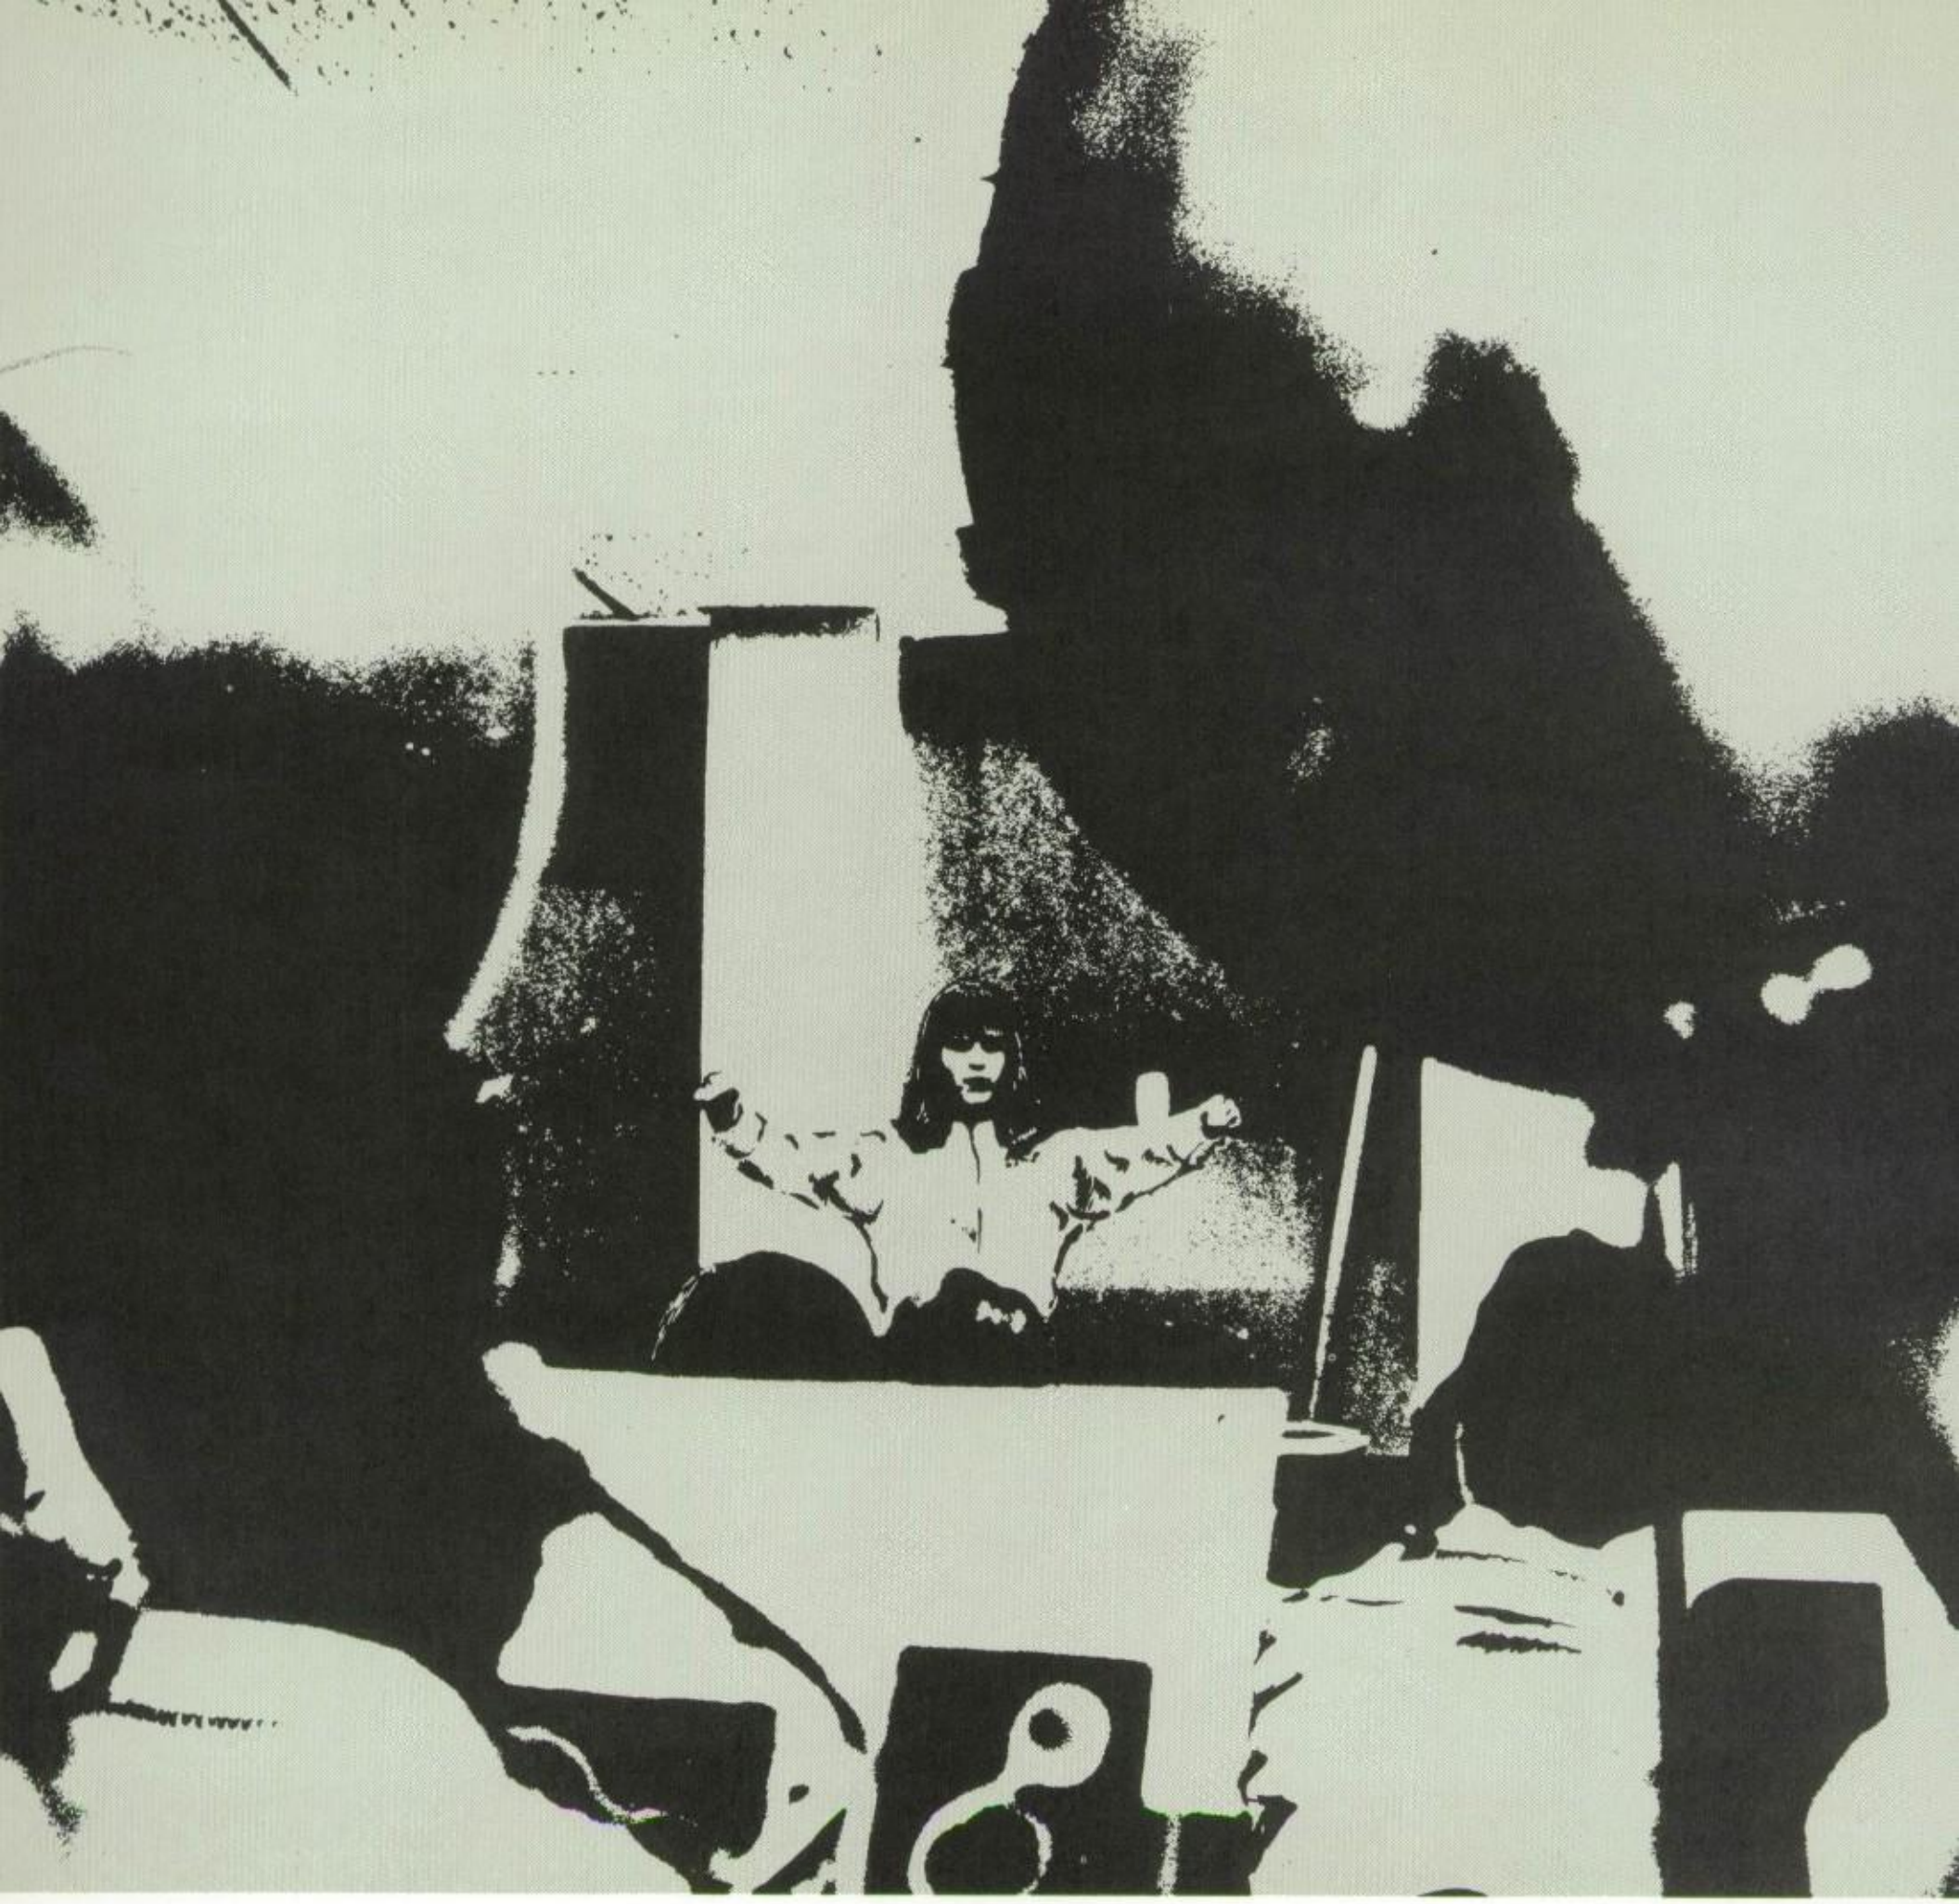
Here is Mike's sure-fire method for becoming a National Merit Finalist.

Whatever she's doing it must be interesting.

What procrastination won't conquer sleep will.



"Coach Howie never said anything about this!"



Organizations

Student Council

The Student Council held regular meetings this year under the capable leadership of their officers. They succeeded in revising the Constitution, and in getting a relaxation of the rules in regard to school clothing. They took part in the St. Jude's Research Hospital fund-raising drive, in the March of Dimes Peanut sale, and in Youth Congress at the Heidelburg Hotel.

Sister M. Emmanuel, Sponsor, briefs Mark Frascogna, newest member.

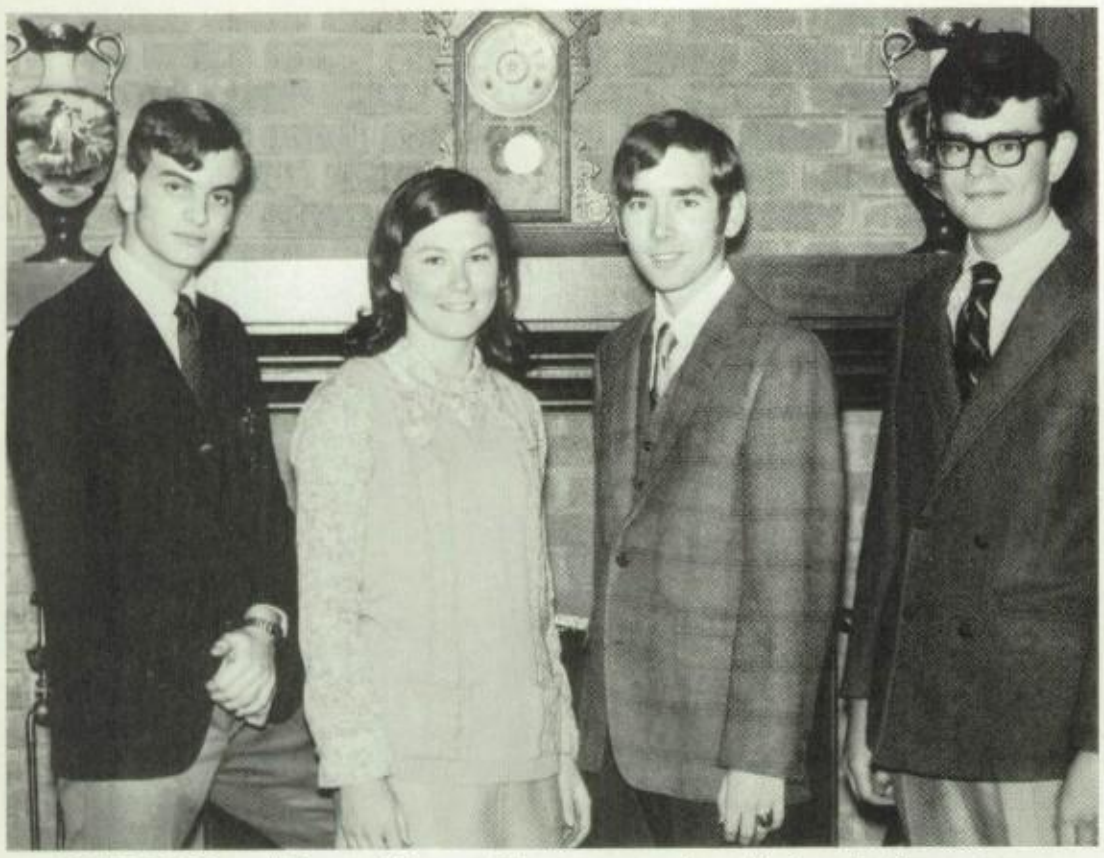
Mu Alpha Theta

"Is Math That Far Out?" Some might have thought it was, but to those in the Mu Alpha Theta Club, it was as down to earth as polar coordinate charts and Euclidean transformations. Traveling to the coast convention, bringing in speakers, and making projects were only a few of the activities the club engaged in to promote mathematics at Saint Joe.



OFFICERS: Albert Mora, Treasurer; Ann Boland, Secretary; Charles Welborn, President; Johnny McAndrew, Vice-President.

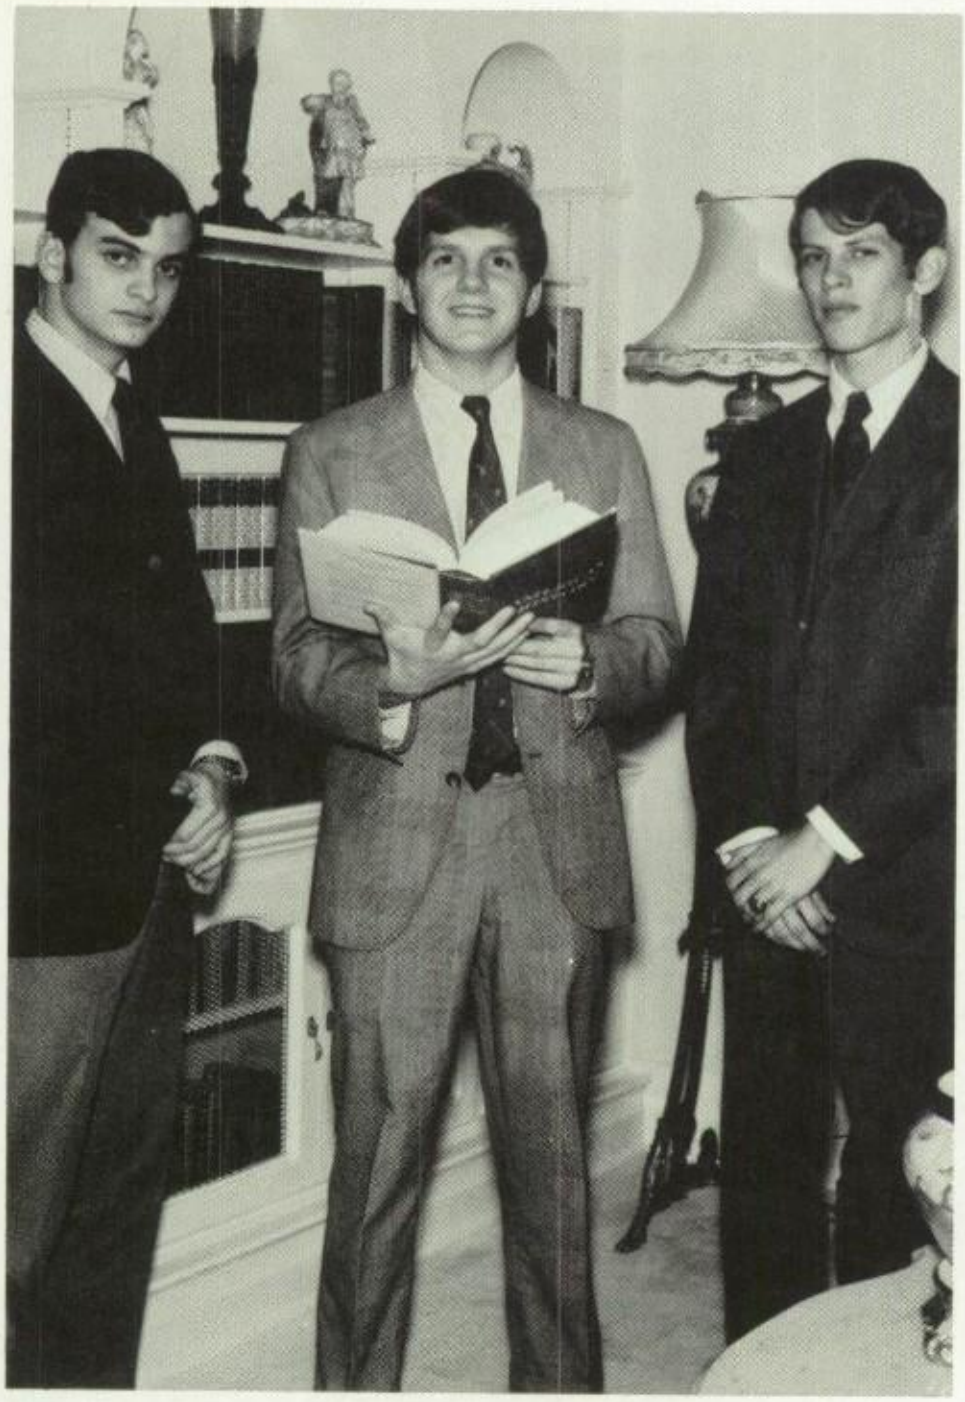
Debate Club



OFFICERS: Albert Mora, Secretary-Treasurer; Pat McMullan, President; Billy McCarthy, Vice-President.

This year the Debate Club, coached by Sister Sean Marie, compiled an impressive record as they competed in tournaments at Laurel, Fraiser in Memphis, Provine, MSCW, Natchez-Adams, and Springhill on the topic Resolution: Congress should prohibit unilateral U. S. intervention in foreign countries.

Throughout the year, the teams of McCarthy and Fullilove, and Mora and Wilkinson won superior team certificates. At Laurel, Albert Mora was rated third place speaker, and at MSCW Joel Wilkinson was rated fourth and Pat McMullan tenth.

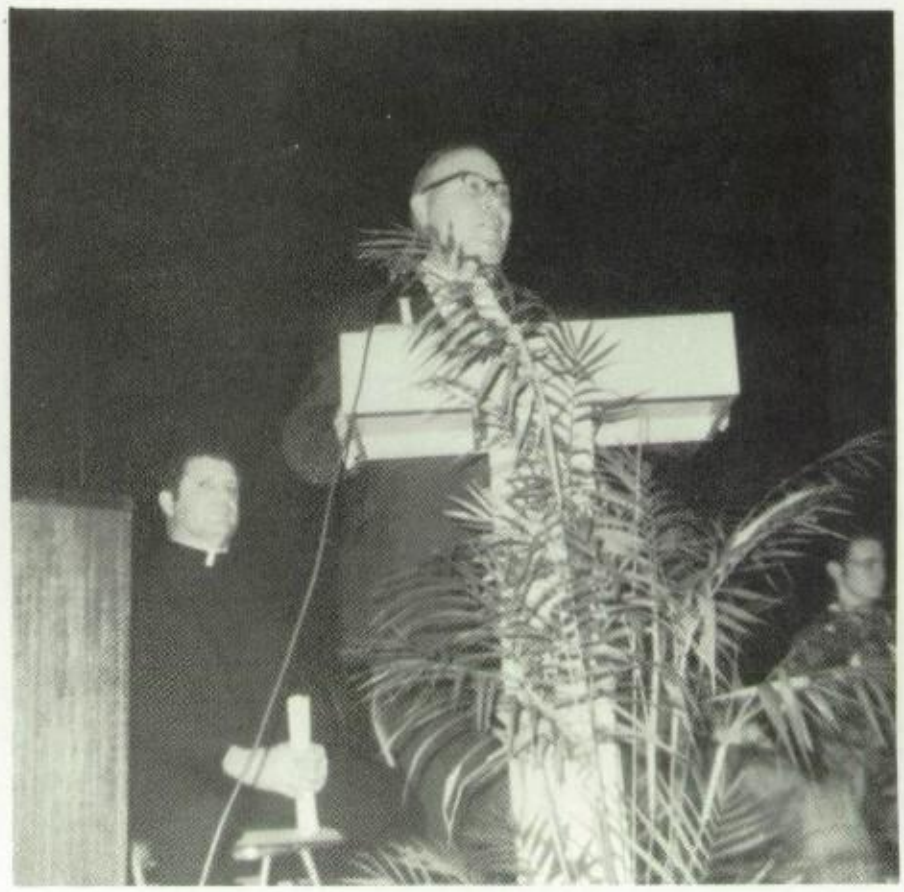
Service, Leadership, Scholarship, Character. Not many could reach the qualifications of the National Honor Society. But to those who did, recognition was given at a special assembly when new members were inducted. This elite group of students was the backbone of Saint Joseph, having consisted of the leaders of the past, and those to lead in the future. Its members didn't excel once in a while, but consistently lived up to the Society's high standards.



Brother Louis Cavell gives principal address at the induction of new members.

ASSOCIATE MEMBERS: Sitting, Emery Lewis, Gary Fontenelle, Standing, Bill Von Almon, Damian Morgan, Pat Maloney.

Cheerleaders

Faith, confidence, concern for others, and unbounded energy help describe our cheerleaders, who have provided some of the most enthusiastic pep rallies resulting in the greatest spirit ever displayed before at St. Joe. Extra time over and beyond the call of duty was spent in making posters, sponsoring parties for team members, and in attending summer camp where the cheerleaders learned new cheers and routines, climaxed by the winning of the spirit stick for the entire week.

Mark and the brass.

Having extended its membership to 28, the St. Joseph Band reached new heights this year. Playing for all the home football games the band led the Rebels to victory. Under the direction of Father Brock, the band marched in the Christmas parades in Greenwood and in Jackson, and took part in the Mardi Gras festivities in New Orleans.

The Library Club at St. Joe was one of the most unrecognized clubs in the school, yet the service it rendered to the students was immeasurable. Our Library Club worked hard to see to it that we were able to find books quickly and easily. They worked many hard and long hours to keep the library the neatest and most up-to-date facility of the entire school.

Activities

Football Banquet

Bishop Brunini listens as State's Jim Wright addresses his audience.

The Athletic Association officially closed the 1969 football season with the annual banquet at Primos Northgate.

Letters were awarded to those who earned them. Plaques were presented to the coaches by the team, and Roger Parkes' player-of-the-week award was on display. In addition to the players, the Rebel Belles, the Band and the Cheerleaders were honored.

October 17, 1969, was a day to be remembered at St. Joe. A great bonfire the preceding night was the beginning of the homecoming festivities. On Homecoming Day itself, the students converged on St. Joe "city" headed by police escort. Spirits soared all day. The pep rally was the liveliest of the year to be surpassed only by the victorious cheers of the fans as the St. Joe Rebels roared to a 34-6 victory over Carthage. The victory over Carthage added to the joy of the occasion as Queen Mary Christo and her Court reigned over the Homecoming Dance.

Basketball Banquet

Four-year letterman Jim Flood congratulates Coach Roy on a fine season.

The 1970 basketball awards banquet was held Sunday night, February 22, in the Saint Joseph cafeteria. Highlighting the evening were the presentations of awards to lettermen and gifts to the two coaches.

Guest speaker was Coach Charles Rugg, head basketball coach at Belhaven College.

Baseball Banquet

Senior baseball players proudly display trophies presented to them at the banquet.

The Rebel Baseball Team was honored at an awards banquet on Sunday night, May 17. The players received letters, the scorekeepers were presented plaques, and the seniors were given trophies by the Athletic Association.

The guest speaker was Coach John Smith of Delta State College.

Highlighting the banquet was the presentation of awards by Coach Howie, whose eloquent tongue equaled, if not surpassed, the glory of Bobby Patin's "million dollar arm!"

Coach Howie happily accepts a token of the baseball team's appreciation.

Visiting Speakers

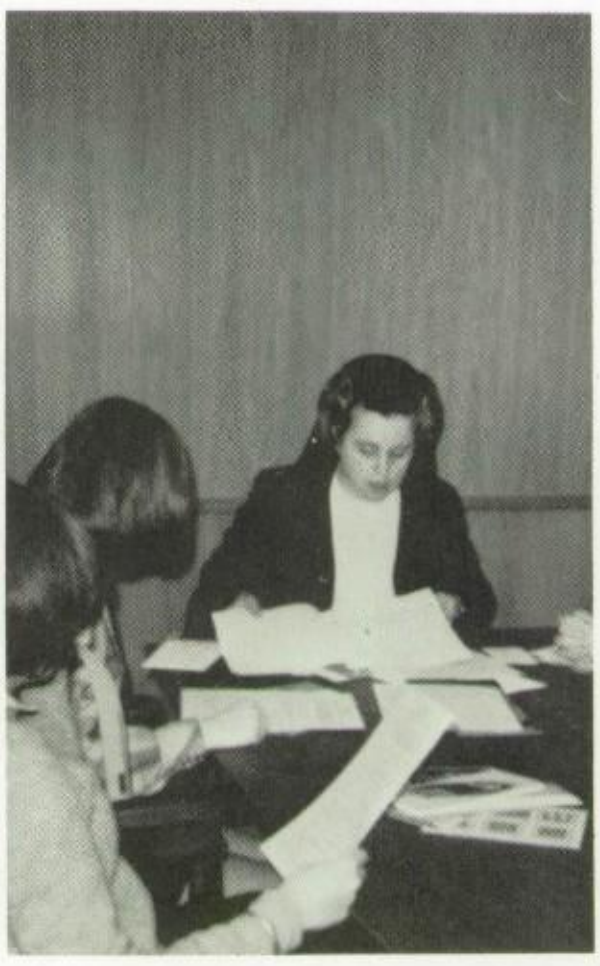
Several times during the year St. Joseph played host to visiting speakers - college representatives, science lecturers, mathematicians, and even a prominent politician. From contact with these individuals, St. Joe students were made more aware of the world about them - what the future holds for those who make good use of the educational advantages given them at St. Joe.

A lecturer representing the educational division of Colonial Bakery speaks on reptiles.

Billy McCarthy and Joel Wilkinson pose with Mr. William Winter, a well-known politician.

Brother Dunn informs about Christian Brothers College.

Mamie Luckett and Cathy Cashion, two college-bound seniors converse with a counselor from Xavier College in Chicago.



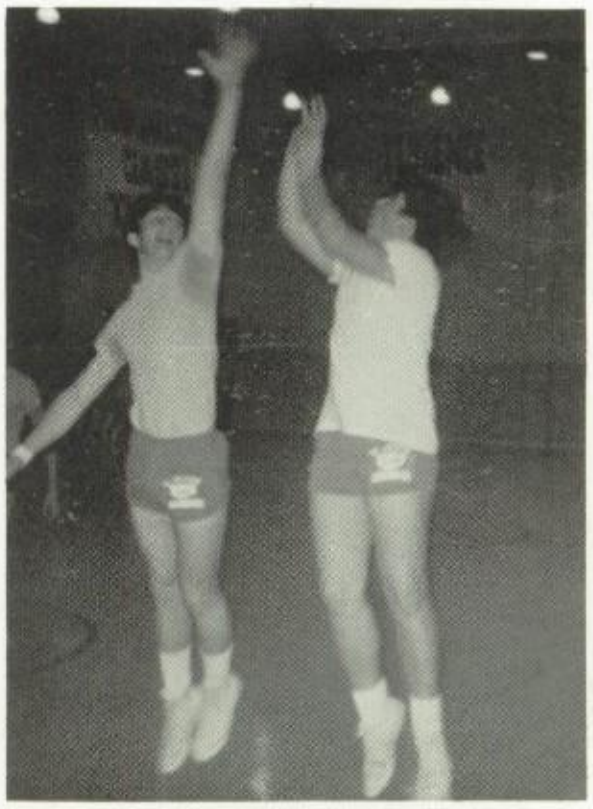
Sister Rose Annelle from Our Lady of the Lake speaks with two seniors.

Freshmen celebrate big victory.

Intramurals

This year's intramural games proved to be as exciting as ever, with the freshman girls and senior boys reigning over the competition. Opening rounds paired freshmen with seniors and sophomores with juniors. In the finals, the freshman girls upset the sophomores, and the senior boys beat the juniors. The faculty, however, preserved their undefeated record by defeating the tough senior boys 32-31.

Van Michaels controls the boards for the faculty.



Pistol Vince tries for two.

Becky brings the ball down against the sophs.

Sally works the ball in while the freshmen put up a tough defense.

Prom-goers take their first ride on the Carousel.

"There's something invigorating about that punch."

Walter and Susan make plans for after the prom.

"I could have sworn that horse moved!"

Carousel

For the Juniors, the prom was a rewarding result of many hours of collective work; for the Seniors, it was only a beginning of many hours of "spirited" experiences. But for all, the Junior-Senior Prom was a collector of memories. Held in the Greek Community Center, the Prom hall was encompassed by a brightly-decorated carousel. Refreshments were served by the sophomore girls. Music was provided by the Village Sound and dancing continued until after midnight.

The Village Sound provides entertainment.

"Who is the stranger in the dark glasses?"

Baily reveals his secret exploits in obtaining refreshments.

"My daughter has to ride home with me at twelve!"

Shield Staff

Walter, Editor, shows Jim a copy of Flashbacks, St. Al book.

Sally muses over science shots.

Ann sets up a copy sheet.

Liz is a whiz at turning out finished pages.

During the activity period the yearbook staff worked industriously to give the St. Joe students a yearbook they would be proud to own. A successful ad campaign made it possible to include color in the book. It was fun watching the book expand as pages were completed. It was also a learning experience - learning how to work well with others even when we disagreed with them. There was give and take on the part of the staff and on the part of the sponsor.

But it was worth all the time spent and what a great day it was when the final shipment was mailed to the publisher.

Hats Off To:

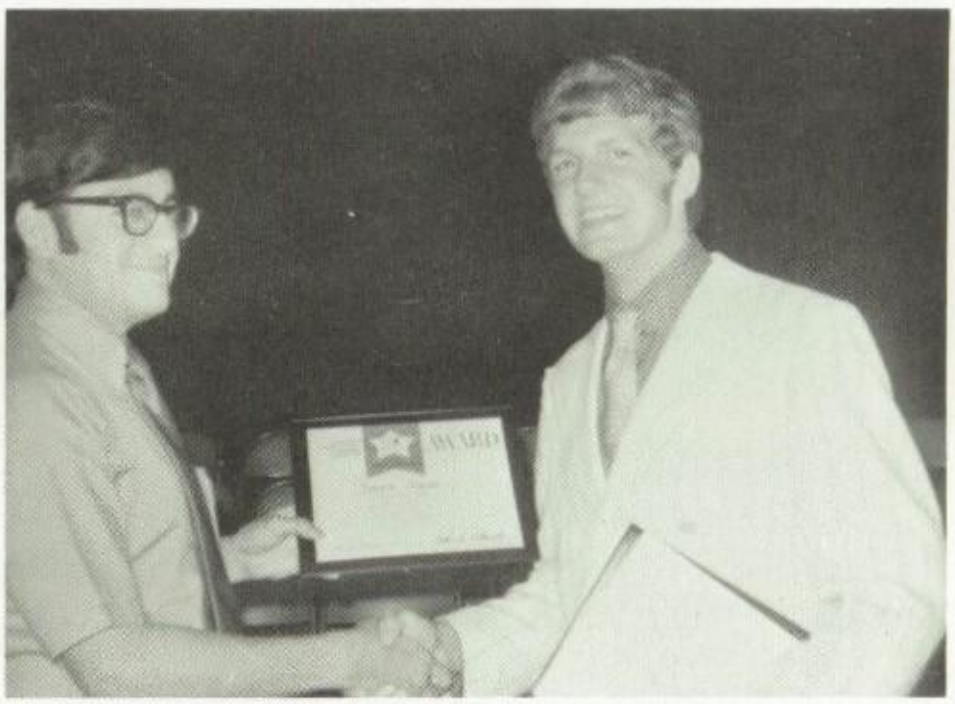
Albert and Billy, ranked among the best debators in the state, illustrate their eloquent style.

Attendants at Boys' and Girls' State; Jim Flood, Cathy Cashion, Mamie Luckett and Walter Harkins.

Walter and Janet are honored by the Optimist Club during Youth Appreciation Week.

Rotarians Walter Harkins, Mike Saway, Jim Flood, Steve Huch, Billy McCarthy, Pat McMullan and Charles Welborn.

St. Joe's outstanding debate teams; Albert and Billy, and Pat and Joel; ranked third and fifth respectively in the state.

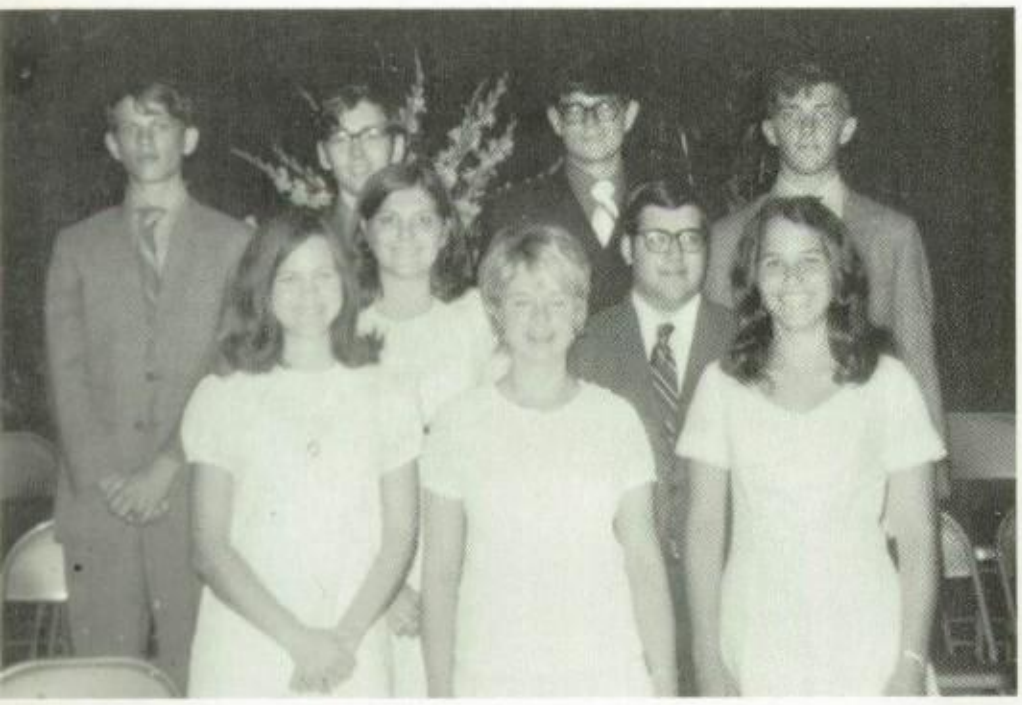


Mr. James Awad, Star Teacher, congratulates Pat McMullan, Star Pupil.

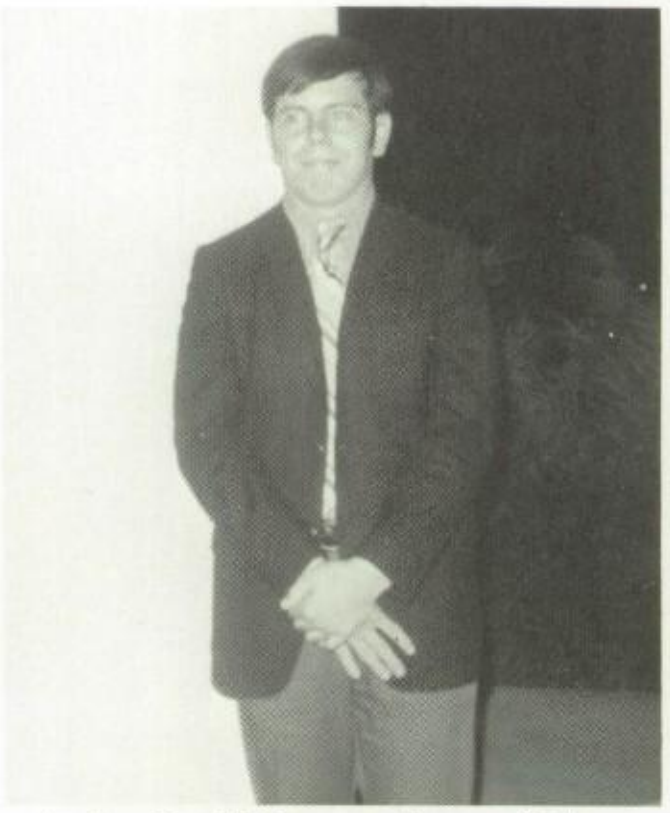
Honors

Awards day gave recognition to those students who did outstanding work academically during the past nine months. In addition to scholarships, band letters, and library service letters, medals and trophies were presented by the Knights of Columbus, the American Legion, the DAR, and the Optimist Club. At this time, Charles Welborn read the Class History; Cathy Duvic, the Class Will; Bob Mallette, the Class Prophecy; and Jim Flood gave a tribute to the faculty.

Mary Cristo, winner of the KC award; Jim Flood and Cathy Cashion, cited by the American Legion; and Cathy Duvic, Homemaker of Tomorrow.



Academic scholarships were awarded to Claudia Yoste, Cathy Cashion, Chris Buteau, Cathy Duvic, Mike Saway, Billy McCarthy, Charles Welborn, John McAndrew, and Steve Huch.



Junior David Coco, winner of the DAR award for the highest average in history.

Honor students Claudia Yoste, Diane Lanius, Chris Buteau, Bill Fullilove, Sally Maloney, Cathy Duvic, Mike Saway, Janet Grower, Charles Welborn, Billy McCarthy, Steve Huch and Jim Flood.

Co-valedictorians John McAndrew and Cathy Cashion.

Day Program

Senior library assistants Ginger Hogg, Kathy Bibler, Helen Gardner and Brenda Dumas.

St. Joe's National Merit Finalists Cathy Cashion, Mamie Luckett, Pat McMullan, and Charles Welborn.

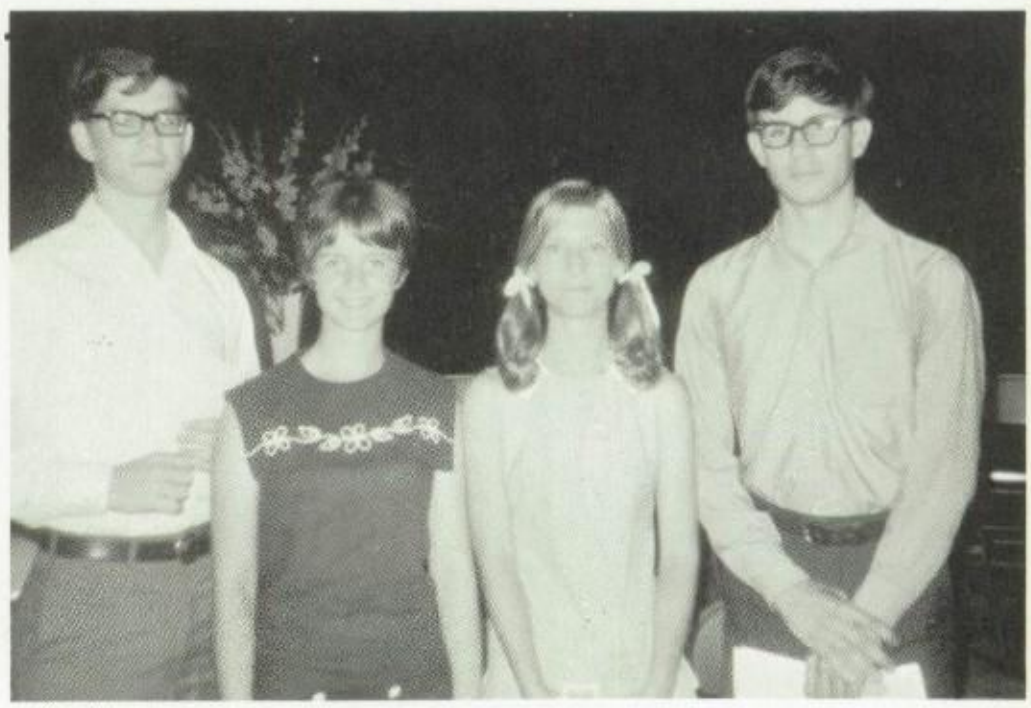
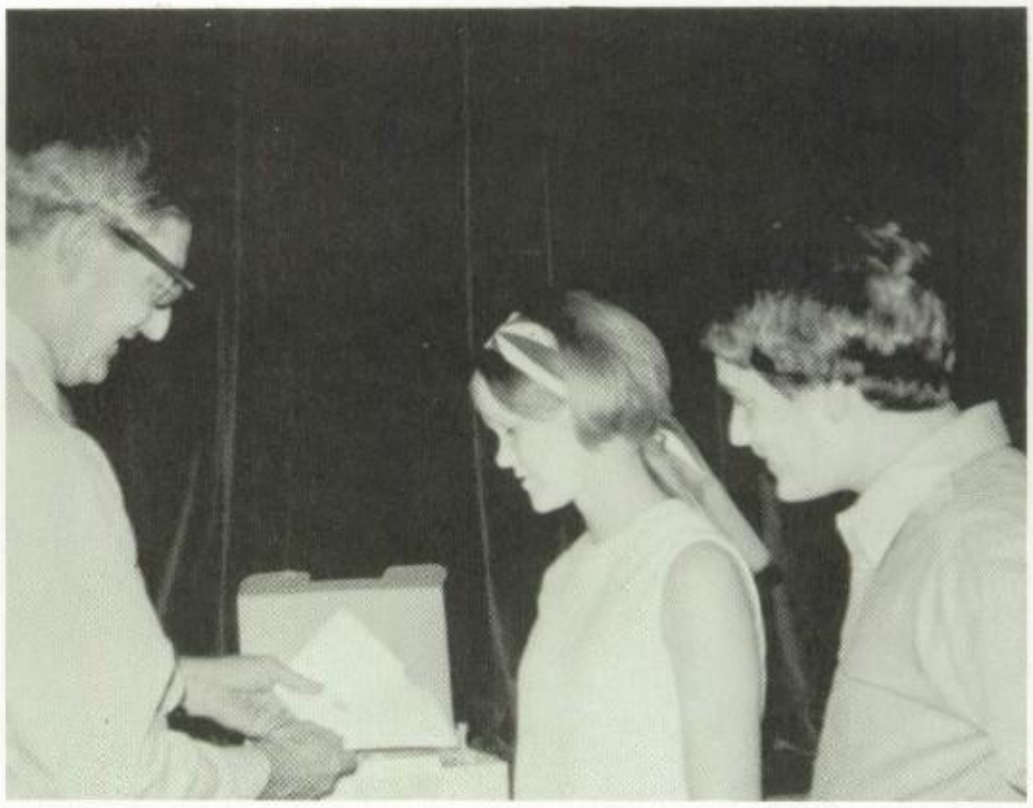
Winners of athletic scholarships, Roger Parkes, Jim Flood and Andrew Mattiace.



Top underclassmen are junior Jerry Thiac, sophomore Ann Cashion, and freshmen Linda LeBlanc and Tim Payment.

Commencemen

On Monday, June 1, diplomas of graduation were presented to seventy-four seniors of St. Joseph High School. Mr. Wallace Merrill, Supervisor of Secondary Education was the speaker for the graduation exercises. At the ceremonies, Father Tarsi made the formal certification of the 1970 Class. Mr. John M. Grower, the chairman of the St. Joseph High School Board, presented the graduating class before the conferring of the diplomas by the Most Rev. Joseph B. Brunini, Bishop of Natchez-Jackson diocese. The pianist for the program was Mrs. Don Kazery.



Brenda and Mike are preparing for graduation by buying their invitations.

Band Concert

Just keep smiling, George, and no one will notice.

The St. Joseph High School Band, directed by Rev. John Brock, presented its annual concert on Wednesday night, May 13, in the school auditorium.

The band played a varied assortment of numbers, including Green Isles, The Shadow of Your Smile and Fantasy on American Sailing Songs. Climaxing the evening was the exciting Carnival Day in New Orleans.

The highlight of the concert was the presentation of the John Philip Sousa award to Phylis Robertson, senior drum majorette and clarinetist. This award is presented on the basis of musicianship and service to the band.

Father Brock, St. Joe's many-talented band director.

You like all those boys, huh, Barbara?

Senior band members Phylis Robertson, Cheryl Arnold, Helen Gardner, and Mark Jaap.

The 1969 St. Joseph Rebel football record will go down in the books as 8-1-1. For those who experienced it, it was the year that the Rebels did what no one thought could be done. From the undefeated team of 1968 Coach Raphael lost all but two starters and 1969 was immediately tagged as a "rebuilding year." But with determination, Rebel pride, and the total support of the student body, he molded a machine that compared with any Rebel powerhouse of the past.

Rebel Cagers Have Winning Season

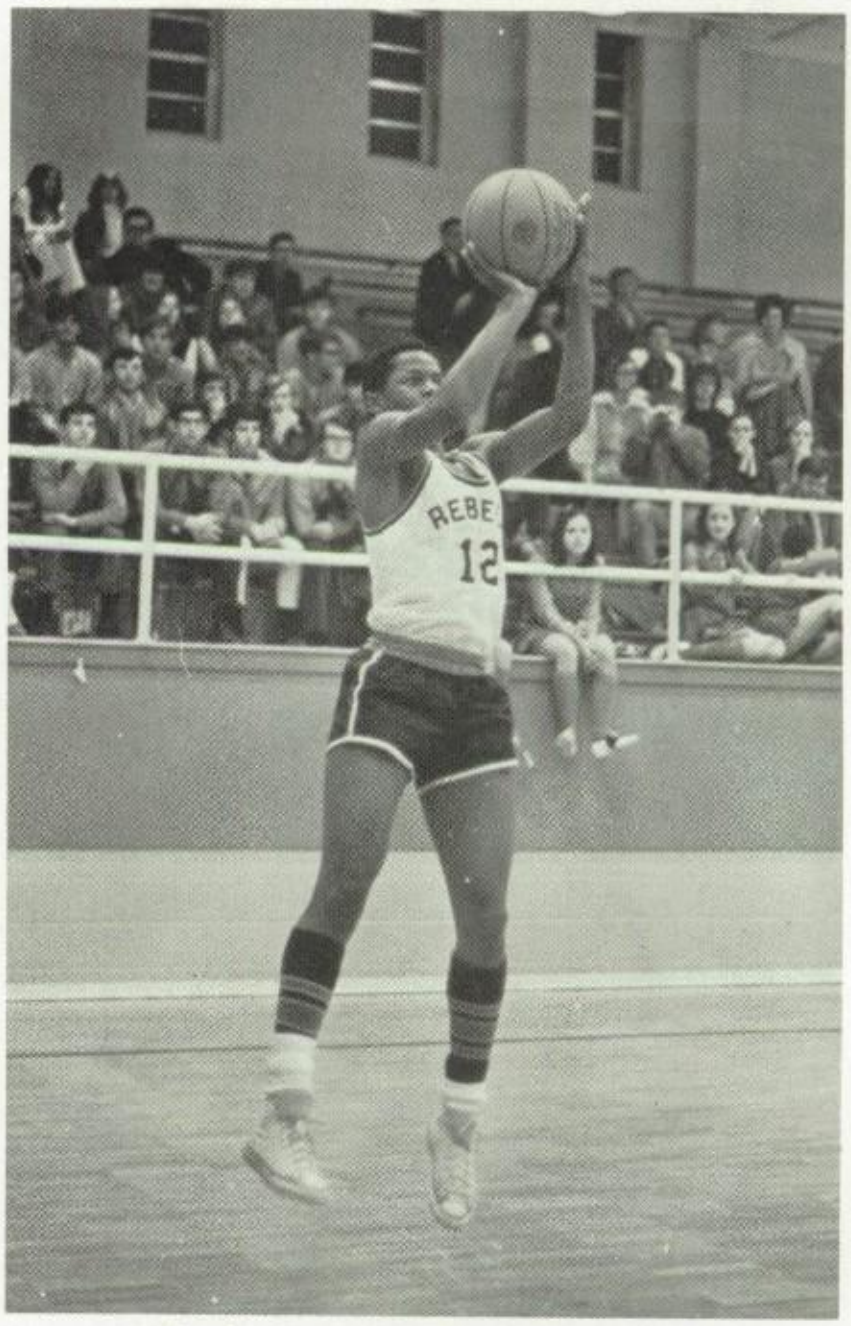
Jim tips off in Rebel victory against Provine.

Put it in, Tom!

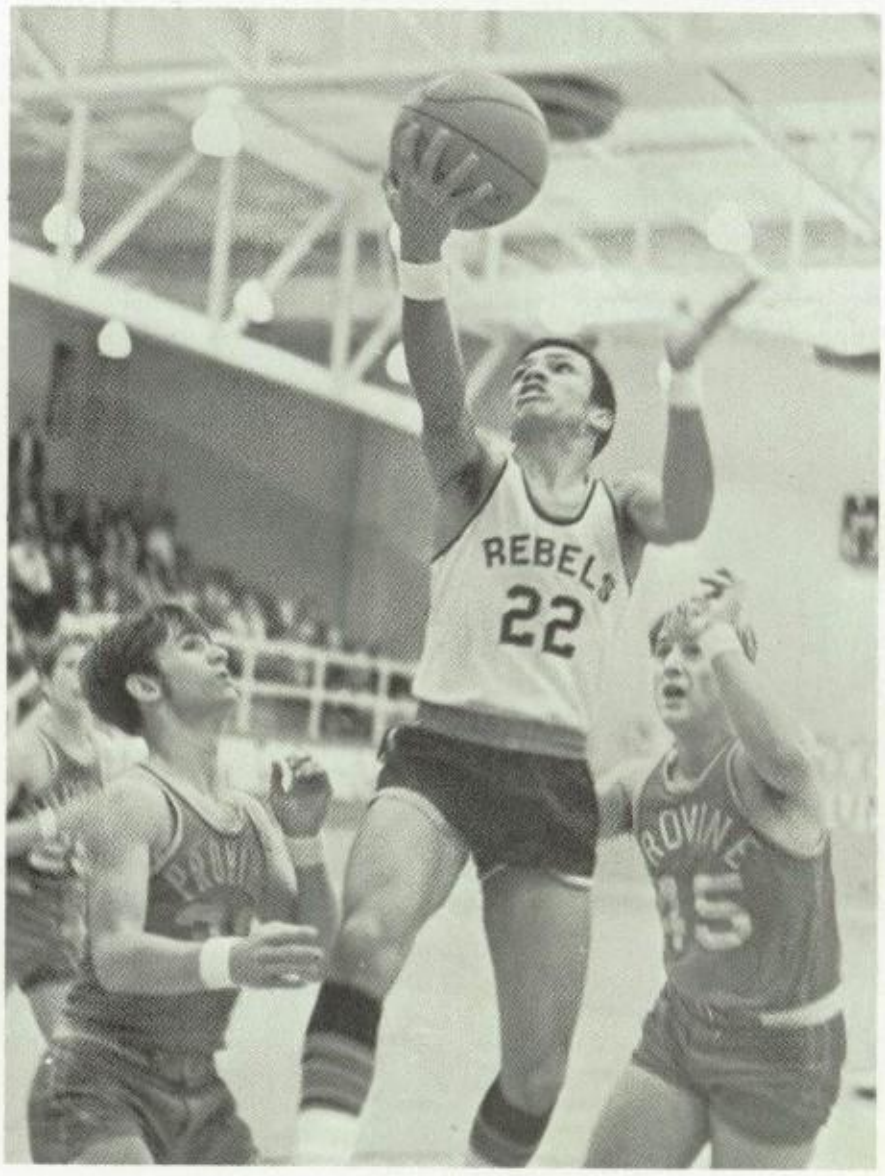
The St. Joseph Rebel Basketball team, under the direction of Coach Paul Roy, posted a winning record of 15-10 this year. Point-wise, the cagers scored 1,647 points, whereas the combined opposition could muster only 1,364 points against the Rebels.

High point men for the Rebels were Jim Flood with 23.2, Tom Lange with 13.2, Ray Stokes with 10.8, and Daryhl Johnson with 10.7 points per game.



Is basketball YOUR game, Stokes?

What's the matter, Jimmy?



Daryhl lays it up for 2.

Girls' basketball was much more exciting with the introduction of the "rover" type of basketball. More interesting games were played than in years past. The great spirit and determination exhibited by the team was largely responsible for this.

Leading the Rebelettes, coached by Bill Raphael, were Donna Paige, Pam Payment, Liz Fitzhugh, Linda Bittner, Peggy Turk, Liz Thiac, and Maureen Coughlin.

Rebs Champions

The hardest thing to do in sports is to be a repeat champion. After winning the Class A State Championship in 1969, Coach Howie and his Rebel diamondmen came right back, but fell short by one game in 1970. Led by the pitching of senior Bobby Patin (13-2), the Rebels put a record in the books that will not soon be broken.

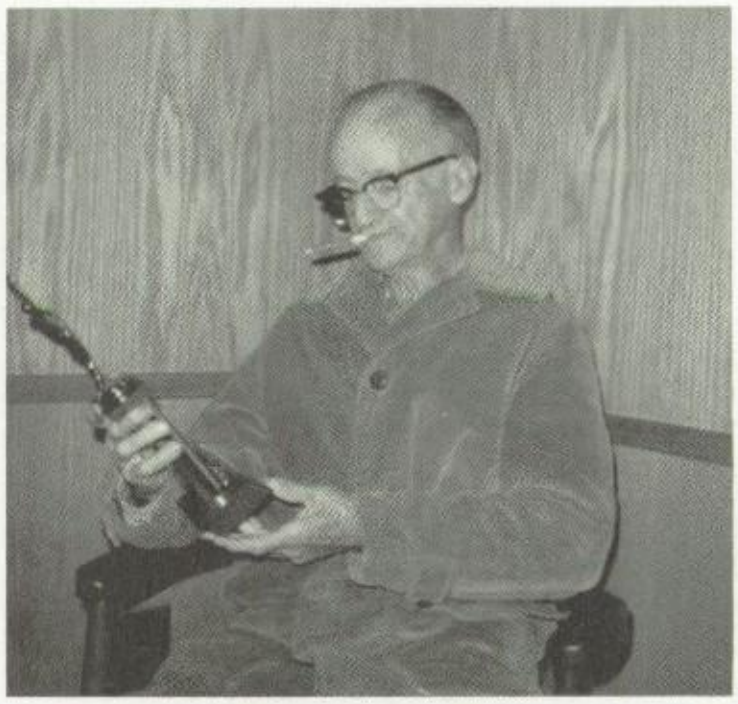
Student Life

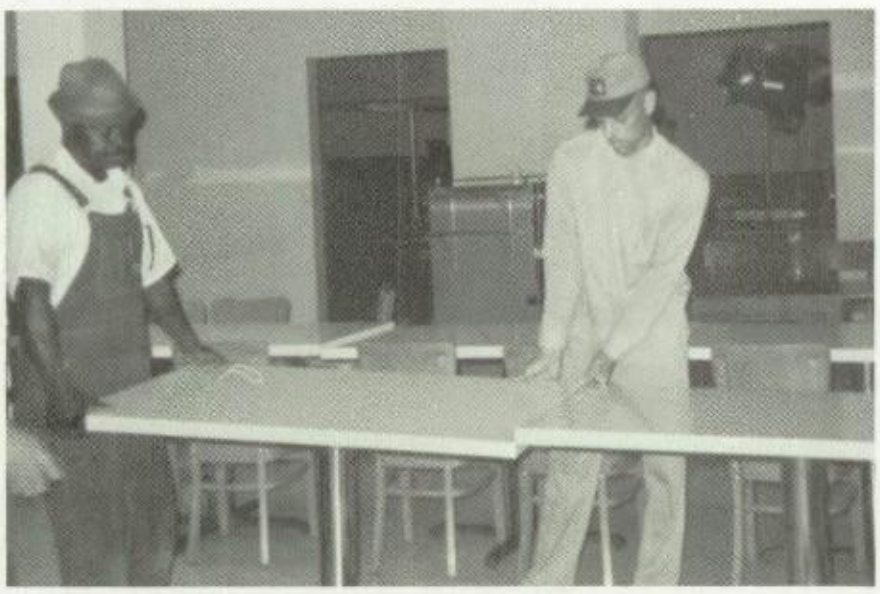
Faithful Helpers

The cafeteria and maintenance workers were as much the backbone of the school as any other part of the school system. Without these little-recognized, devoted people, St. Joseph would not have functioned so smoothly as it did this year.

Mrs. LaPearl Florence, St. Joe's cafeteria department, feeds us well.



Mr. Matthew Calhoun, custodian and maintenance engineer, is on the job daily.



Dennis McDuffey and Paul Franklin, maintenance men, lend a helping hand whenever needed.

Pearlie Mae Caldwell and Virgie Thomas keep our classrooms clean and shiny.

Size 15? ... Sorry Vincent.

... Not only that, but she's pretty good lookin'.

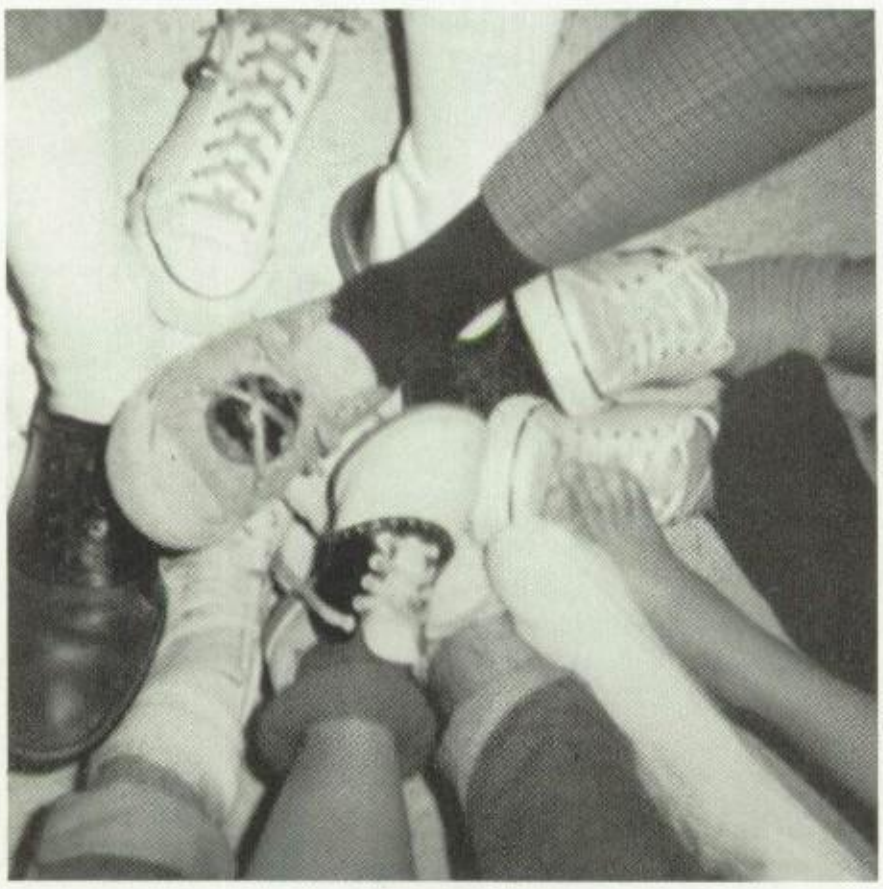
We came back!

Hungry Janet?

Meanwhile back at kindergarten ...

Now, now, girls!

Are you ready?



Let us collaborate.

I'll drink to that!

Come on lucky 7!

You stay on your end of the court and I'll stay on mine.

If we all combine our ACT scores, we might make it into college.

Doesn't anyone want to take my money?

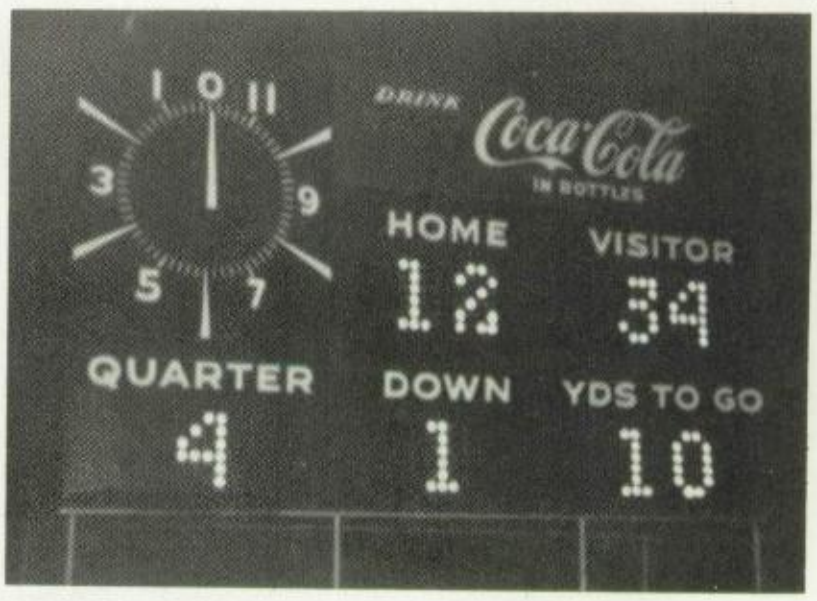
Student Life

Charge!!!

The sun's off two minutes by my watch.

In from Chicago on business?

Caught ya!!



What was the St. Al score again?

I'll let you be quarterback just this once, Mattiace.

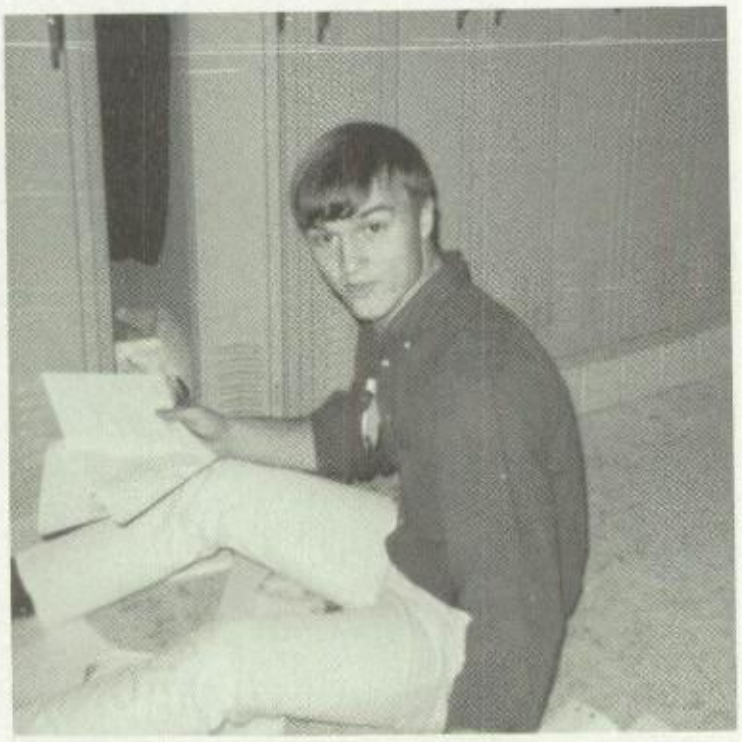
Gasp! Poisoned!

You mean you got an excused absence for that?

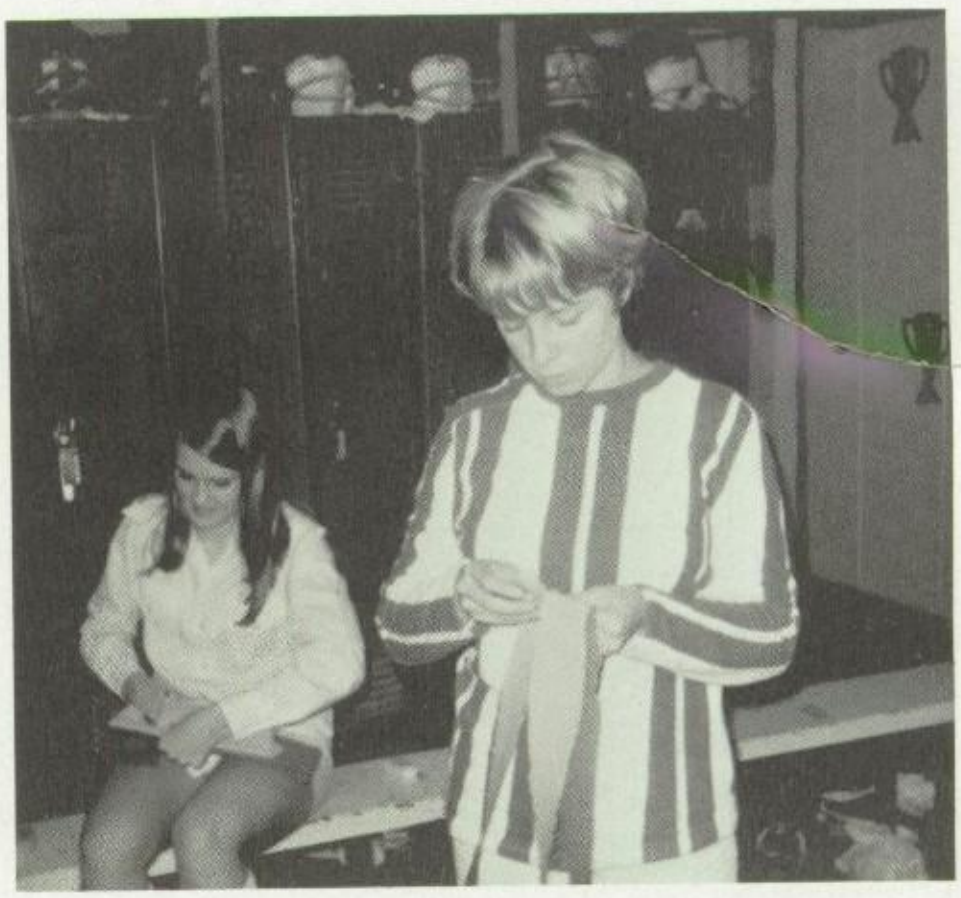
Father, I've heard that one before.



But, Father, I just cleaned it last week.

I think somebody spiked the gatorade.

A FROG!

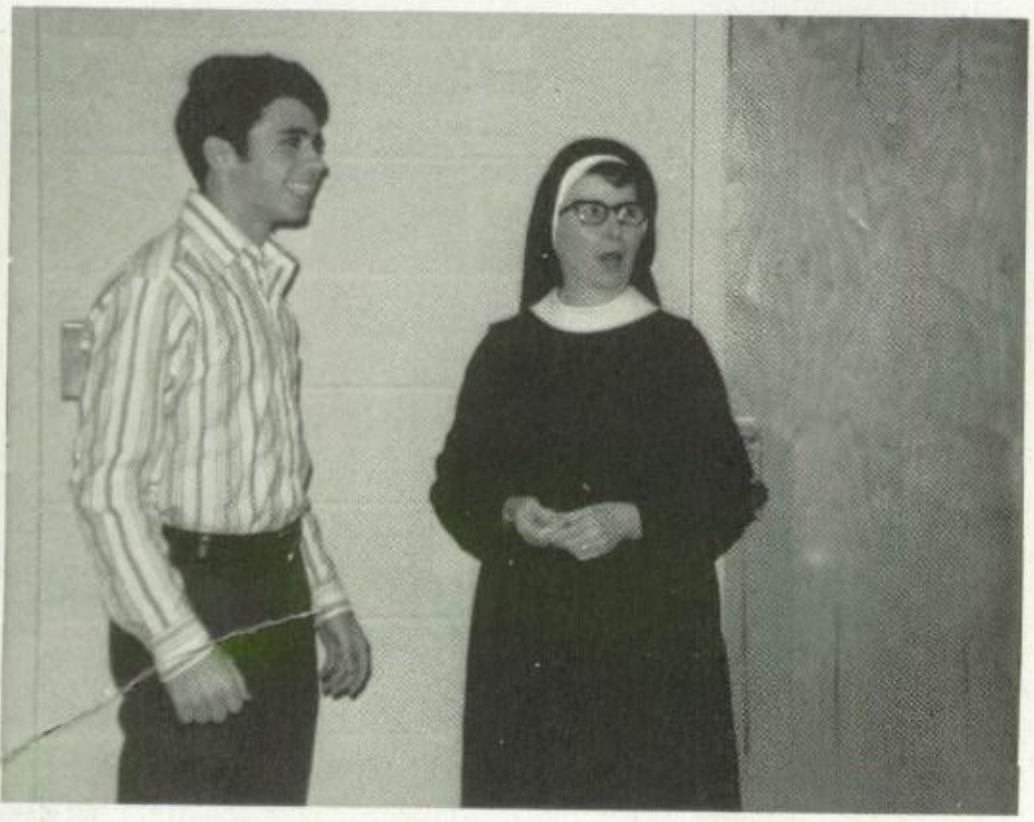


Hey! The sign on the door says Men.

Student Life

You mean I'm out here killing myself and she didn't come to the game?

Hoddy, toddy ...



Drafted???

Rebel spirit runs high at a bonfire.

Something about me drives 'em wild.

The Shield staff of 1970 is indebted to many people for the help and cooperation which they have given to us during the year as we worked to assemble the pages of this book. We are especially grateful to our principal, Father Tarsi, and to our sponsor, Sister Mary Clarissa, for their continuous support and encouragement as we worked to publish one of the finest yearbooks St. Joe has ever put out.

Our overall objective was to put into print the memories of the past school year. As you page through the book you will realize that many long and trying hours were spent on trying to capture these memories. We hope the results you see show that we have accomplished our objective. If, whenever you look through this book, it serves as a reminder of the 1969-'70 school year, then we know we have served you well.
